McGovern Assails Nixon's Leadership

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

Sen. George McGovern took the lead role today among Democrats accusing President Nixon's administration of corruption.

Renewing his demand that Nixon meet him in public debate, McGovern told United Press International editors the United States has never "witnessed official corruption as wide or as deep as the mess in Washington right now."

McGovern's wife, Eleanor, and vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver had opened the latest offensive on the issue of alleged corruption Sunday. But Shriver said most people have been "bruised too much" to care.

McGovern said evidence of corruption includes "a campaign contribution buying a billion-dollar antitrust settlement," leaks on the Soviet wheat deal to grain exporters and the $10-million Nixon campaign fund whose donors have not been disclosed.

Shriver told labor union leaders in Minneapolis today that McGovern is no "radical on amnesty and abortion."

He said if Nixon remains in office all wage settlements will be dictated in Washington as the Wage Board reviews contracts.

Meanwhile the White House contended today that the Democratic-controlled Congress, when it acts on Nixon's proposed $250 billion spending ceiling, will in effect be voting on "whether there will be higher taxes next year."

The legislation for the ceiling has run into delays and opposition because of the sweeping power it would give the President to hold back funds appropriated by Congress for various programs.

After Nixon met with Republican congressional leaders this morning, his assistant for domestic policy, John D. Ehrlichman, told newsmen the President sees the spending ceiling vote as "critically important."

As Democrats continued to bring the Watergate affair into their speeches on corruption, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., said the administration is working hard to prevent former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans from having to testify about the alleged electronic bugging of Democratic national headquarters. Stans now heads Nixon's principal campaign finance group.

The House Banking Committee is scheduled to discuss Tuesday whether to authorized subpoenas to require witnesses to appear at an open investigation. Reuss said administration operatives are combing the committee for votes against the authorization.

Meanwhile, Clark MacGregor, President Nixon's campaign director, said Nixon "cannot lose the election." He warned, however, against costly mistakes by the campaign organization.

Nixon, Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew did not campaign Sunday.

Sen. McGovern's wife was on national television where she called the Nixon administration "the most corrupt regime that we have had in recent American history," citing the breakin and alleged bugging at the Democratic party headquarters at Washington's Watergate building as an example.

Mrs. McGovern appeared on NBC's "Meet the Press" Sunday, the first time the wife of a presidential candidate has done so.

She also said that her husband will soon announce a specific plan for ending the Vietnam war.

Shriver, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, was in Minneapolis where he acknowledged that the Watergate case and alleged Republican campaign fund irregularities had not become major issues in the minds of most voters.'

Shriver was to campaign in Minneapolis and Illinois today.

Discuss European Troops

President Nixon met at the White House today with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko as American sources said the United States is ready to start preliminary negotiations with the Soviet Union on European troop reductions. Tuesday they will formally put into effect the historic arms limitation accord. (UPI)

Busy Night Faces City Councilmen

The naming of a new city fire chief and assistant chief and a discussion of the city's preliminary plans to spend its newly-acquired $414,185 in federal revenue-sharing funds will highlight city council action at 7:30 o'clock tonight in City Hall.

Most speculation regarding the two fire department appointments has centered around the council's choice as assistant chief since most people believe present assistant chief Willis Jabas will be named to replace retiring Emmett Vaught. Council members, however, have declined to confirm either appointment.

Mayor Jerry Jones said the council as a whole will decide how the city's share of the revenue sharing funds will be appropriated among city departments.

Jones said this evening's discussion will be necessarily preliminary because detailed information regarding the technicalities of administering the funds have not yet been obtained.'

"Once we get more information about how it must be spent and accounted for we will make decisions," Jones said.

When asked whether a citizens committee would be named to aid the council in this effort, Jones said, "I see no need for it because the council will be in a position to make the decision."

The Council is also expected to review the requested updated financial information from Alpha Sintered Metals, Inc., which was obtained by Industrial Development Director Bill Hall.

The firm, at the Sept. 5 council meeting, announced their intent to locate in Sedalia pending passage of a $150,000 bond issue. The council was originally expected to decide tonight whether to hold the bond election in conjunction with the November general election but a delay by the Missouri Industrial Commission in their official decision on the firm has caused a postponement in plans.

Hall said the decision is expected by Oct. 8 and indicated he will contact council members at that time.

The Council will also hold a closed session following their regular session with city firemen in a further effort to break a long-standing dispute concerning several wage and fringe benefit demands. In announcing the meeting Friday, International Firefighters Local 823 President Bob Vogler indicated there would be no ultimatum attitude on the part of the firemen. Jones Monday said that, as far as he knew, his position and that of the council would be similar.

Although the meeting was announced as closed, Jones said he felt newsmen should be allowed because "city government is public business." Vogler was unavailable for comment on this matter.

In routine business, the council will consider requests for package liquor license renewals from Walter F. Wertz for the State Fair Marine, 1419 South Limit and from Robert L. Woodall for the Missouri Bowl, 105 South Missouri. Woodall will also request a renewal liquor-by-the-drink license.

Short Ceremony Opens High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court opened its 1972-73 term today with a four-minute ceremonial session attended by the nine justices.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger opened the new court year. Eight lawyers were admitted to the court's bar. The justices then left the bench to begin a week-long series of private conferences to dispose of some 90 requests for hearings that have amassed since they took off for summer vacation at the end of June.

The first rulings will be handed down on Oct. 10.

Noteworthy was the presence of the first girl page since the court began employing pages after the Civil War. She is Deborah Gelin, 14, of Rockville, Md. She stood to the rear of the bench behind Justice Lewis F. Powell, during the perfunctory session.

Cordial Atmosphere

Nixon, Gromyko Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko conferred at the White House today and will dine together at Camp David tonight.

Tuesday they will join in formal ceremonies to put into effect the historic arms limitation agreements that were signed in Moscow by the two nations.

Nixon was extending unusual hospitality to Gromyko, whom he invited to Camp David for an overnight stay on the eve of the agreement ceremonies to be held in the East Room of the White House Tuesday morning.

A wide range of subjects from trade negotiations to the problems of Soviet Jews were on the agenda for the talks.

Nixon and Gromyko launched their sessions with a 70-minute meeting in Nixon's oval office this morning.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers, top national security adviser Henry Kissinger and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin were in on the session. All of them were to be at the Camp David working dinner and to stay overnight there.

Camp David, in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains some 65 miles north of Washington, was the site of a 1959 summit conference between the then President Dwight D. Eisenhower and the then Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. Out of their talks emerged a brief era of good feeling that was labelled "The Spirit of Camp David."

Administration officials said the Soviet foreign minister and the President would deal largely with two matters—commercial relations and the European question.

Tied to the commercial negotiations is the question of Soviet treatment of its Jewish population, an issue assuming increasing importance in the current American presidential-election campaign.

There is strong sentiment in Congress to link any new U.S.-Soviet trade agreement to a Soviet concession on the large exit taxes levied on emigrating Jews.

The possible agreements are under negotiation in Washington. They involve settlement of the Russian World War II lend-lease debt, a maritime accord and an over-all commercial treaty.

Kit Bond Endorsed By Papers

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Republican candidate for governor Christopher S. Bond has been endorsed by the Jefferson City News-Tribune and the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

In the primary, the News-Tribune endorsed Bond's opponent, Democrat Edward L. Dowd. In the GOP primary, the paper endorsed Gene McNary, St. Louis county prosecutor.

People have lost confidence in state government, mainly because of one political party being in power 28 years, the newspaper said.

"This lack of people's trust in their public servants is the over-riding issue in the campaign," the paper said in an editorial. "Only a sweeping transfusion of new faces, ideas, vitality and a totally fresh outlook can restore this confidence."

The Globe-Democrat called Bond "progressive and thorough."

"He has proposed a well thought out program for reforming the state's correctional system," the Globe said in an editorial. "He has excellent plans for putting the state's idle money to work and taking the politics out of handling of its funds ... He puts a high priority on rapid transit for cities and good roads in the state ..."

Heavy Warplane Raids Announced

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese officials reported today heavy blows by U.S. warplanes against North Vietnam's Hanoi-Haiphong corridor and 100 enemy attacks across South Vietnam, the biggest upsurge in more than two months.

Navy and Air Force jets flew more than 250 strikes across North Vietnam Sunday, hitting supply lines, depots, barracks and other military facilities, the U.S. Command said.

North Vietnam claimed it shot down six American planes. The U.S. Command did not list any losses for Sunday's raids, but said in a delayed report that an Air Force F105 was downed by a surface-to-air missile last Friday 43 miles west of Hanoi. The two crewmen were listed as missing.

In Thailand, terrorists fired 36 mortars into the U.S. air base at Ubon, 300 miles northeast of Bangkok, one of eight bases in Thailand from which air strikes are launched against North Vietnam. U.S. spokesmen in Bangkok said there was light damage to a radio tower. They said there was no damage to planes and no Americans were hurt. Security guards drove a terrorist sabotage team from the base area.

The U.S. cruiser Newport News left the Vietnam war zone and steamed to the Philippines with the bodies of 19 sailors killed in the worst U.S. naval disaster this year.

Ten other men in the crew of 1,300 were injured by the explosion in an eight-inch gun turret that rocked the 21,000-ton warship early Sunday as it shelled the northern coast of South Vietnam.

The Navy was investigating the blast, described as an accident.

Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Haig, a special representative of President Nixon, conferred with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu for 2½ hours today in a wide review of the poitical and military situation in Indochina.

A spokesman for the U.S. embassy said he did not know the substance of the talks, but sources had said Haig planned to give Thieu a full report on the secret negotiations in Paris between Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnamese diplomats.

Haig is due to return to Washington Wednesday to report to Kissinger and Nixon on his conference with Thieu, sources said. North Vietnamese insistence on ousting Thieu from a future coalition government in South Vietnam is one of the stumbling blocks at the Paris talks.

In Breakfast Speech

Spainhower Blasts Opponent

Opening with a pledge "to conduct public business in the public limelight," James Spainhower, Democratic candidate for state treasurer, went on to criticize both Missouri Attorney General John Danforth and George Parker, his opponent in the state treasurer's race, in a breakfast speech Monday at Bothwell Hotel.

Spainhower, who declined to mention Parker by name throughout his address, said "his (Parker's) platform is nearly the same as mine, only mine came out six months before his ... he has no new fresh ideas."

The one major difference between his platform and Parker's, Spainhower noted, "is that my opponent proposes establishing an advisory committee of bankers to tell him how to run his business."

Spainhower disagreed with this proposal saying "I think the people of Missouri will elect a treasurer to run the treasurer's office and not bankers."

Continuing his attack on Parker, Spainhower said "my opponent has said I should not be elected simply because I'm a Democrat ... that's as partisan as anyone can possibly get ... my first concern will not be political ramifications but rather public need."

Describing his own candidacy, Spainhower said "I don't ask people to vote for me because I'm a Democrat. I've got the programs, plans and innovative solutions." Spainhower, a former minister, and state legislator, continued by saying, "I've got a background of proven integrity and my past experience in public service has caused me to view the public office as a public trust."

Spainhower also lashed out at Danforth, running for re-election as a Republican, whom he criticized for "describing the Democratic Party as a machine."

"The term 'machine' has a bad connotation for the American public," he said. "The Democratic Party is an organization of people bound by Democratic principles ... if that's a machine, I'm proud to be a part of it."

Spainhower accused Danforth of attempting to establish a Republican machine in the state by grooming his assistants for elective office.

"If there is any man in this state trying to build a political machine, it is John Danforth," Spainhower said. "... several of his assistants are running for the state legislature this year."

The most noteworthy example of this, Spainhower said, was the case of Christopher "Kit" Bond, who was an assistant to Danforth before being elected State Auditor in 1970 and winning the Republican gubernatorial nomination in the August primary.

"In the whole election year, fresh innovative ideas are completely lacking from the Republicans," Spainhower asserted.

In an interview afterward, Spainhower said he anticipated no conflict between ministerial obligations and state treasurer's duties.

The Rev. Robert Magee, pastor of the First Christian Church, who introduced Spainhower, said Spainhower had no full time parish. Spainhower himself said he viewed the separation of church and state as essential to good government.

At Rival

Tests Have Shown Levels Too High

Test results of a one-day collection of water samples emitted by the Rival Manufacturing Co., 16th and Lamine, indicate that, despite anti-pollution measures recently taken, the amount of pollutants released by the firm still exceeds city-established maximum standards in several categories.

The results, received Monday by City Engineer Robert Cunningham from the Kansas City Testing Laboratory, reflect the composition of three separate water samples taken over a 24-hour period from 8 a.m. Sept. 18 to 8 a.m. Sept. 19.

The samples were taken of waste water discharge from Rival, raw sewage influent from the firm that entered the city's south treatment plant and final effluent from the firm as it entered the Breakfast Branch flowing into Flat Creek.

Under the city's industrial waste ordinance, maximum allowable amounts of chromium, copper and zinc are established for raw sewage influent and final effluent but not for waste water itself.

The following amounts are the number of milograms per liter of sample sewage. Waste Water discharge: chromium, 8.8; copper, 8.6; and zinc, 7.1.

Raw Sewage influent (in which maximum standards are established): chromium, 2.9 which is 1.9 more than the maximum of 1 milogram per liter; copper, 5.0 which exceeds the maximum of 1.0 by 4.0; and zinc, 1.2 which falls below the maximum of 2.0 by a margin of .8.

Final effluent entering Breakfast Branch (maximum standards again established); chromium, .95 which is .5 below the maximum allowable amount of 1; Copper, .80, which is .78 above the maximum of .02; and zinc, which at .4 is .3 over the maximum permissible amount of .1.

Cunningham emphasized that the test results provided only a preliminary picture of the situation because of its short duration. He added that officials from Rival have informed him that the company is pursuing its own investigative and testing program on the matter.

DEATH NOTICES

Schedule Vote On Market

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Danes vote today in a referendum called to give the public the final say in the country's most far-reaching decision since it joined the North Atlantic Alliance — whether to enter the European Common Market.

Norway's rejection of market membership in a plebiscite last week added suspense to the voting, but the general expectation was that a majority would elect for Denmark to join EEC, the European Economic Community, on next Jan. 1.

Nearly 2,000 workers at two plants in Jutland went on strike in protest against the mailing by management of letters urging employees to vote "yes."

A dozen uniformed police were on hand to guard against possible interference by demonstrators when the ballot boxes were taken into the polling station in Copenhagen's town hall.

Norway's rejection of market membership was regarded as a setback by Danes favoring steps toward a united Europe. If the referendum passes, Denmark will be the only Scandinavian country in the market, now composed of West Germany, Italy, France, Luxembourg, Belgium and the Netherlands. Britain and Ireland expect to join in January. Finland and Sweden have not sought entry.

Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag and other pro-market forces argued that Danish entry would provide a "Nordic bridgehead in Europe." But the antimarketeers claim there is now a golden opportunity for a Scandinavian economic union if Denmark remains outside EEC.

Opposition to EEC participation came from an unusual mixture of Communists, assorted Marxists, leftwing Social Democrats and dissenters from the non-Socialist parties. They were joined by some leftwing union factions and various non-partisan antimarket forces.

The campaign over entering the market ended with an anti-EEC rally in Copenhagen's town hall square Sunday.

Prime Minister Krag and his cabinet were prepared to meet immediately after the outcome of the referendum is known.

Krag will open the new session of parliament at noon Tuesday. He wrote two speeches to cover both referendum possibilities. And he made it no secret that the speech to be delivered in case of a "no" will be an unpleasant one heralding a period of tough austerity.

Treatment Described As Humane

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Navy Lt. Mark L. Gartley, the first of the three recently released American pilots to hold a news conference in the United States, says his treatment in a North Vietnamese prisoners of war camp was "humane."

Gartley told newsmen Sunday that conditions in the camp had improved and were "much better now" than they were when he was first imprisoned after being shot down in 1968.

"My treatment during capture has been humane," he said. "I have not been mistreated. Prisons anywhere in the world are no bed of roses. This was no exception.

"But when you take into account the standard of living in the country in which we were confined and examine the conditions, you'd have to say we were treated very well," Gartley said.

Gartley spoke for about 25 minutes in a conference at St. Albans Naval Hospital in New York City. Then he left for Jacksonville, Fla., where he entered another Naval hospital for further tests.

Navy officials declined to say how long Gartley would remain at the hospital.

The other two released pilots, Navy Lt. (j.g.) Norris Charles and Air Force Maj. Edward K. Elias, have also been undergoing tests since their return home in the company of anti-war activists.

Officials at the Balboa Naval Hospital in San Diego said Charles would be released today and continue seeing doctors as an outpatient.

Of Area Residents

Randall's Survey Reflects Attitude

(Democrat-Capital Service)

WASHINGTON — Congressman William J. Randall, D-Mo., has released the results of his 1972 opinion poll among residents of Missouri's Fourth Congressional District, which includes the Sedalia area.

Randall noted some highlights of the poll, which revealed that 55 per cent of those who responded considered that President Nixon's trip to Peking and Moscow was an effective contribution to world peace.

"Fifty-two per cent believe NATO troop levels should be reduced only after agreement for mutual balanced force reductions," Randall told the House.

"On the current subject of amnesty," he continued, "only three per cent favor total amnesty as opposed to 53 per cent against amnesty and 37 per cent favoring amnesty upon agreement to serve in some nonmilitary capacity."

Randall told the House "there should be no question about our constituents' views on busing. Fifty-eight per cent favor attending schools nearest their homes with 32 per cent supporting 'freedom of choice assignment.'" He said that 42 per cent of those answering supported a constitutional amendment to prohibit busing.

The Congressman said that "42 per cent consider wage-price controls are worth continuing, but 36 per cent do not think they have been fairly administered."

On Vietnam, Randall said area residents supported the Vietnam troop withdrawal policy by a 61 per cent majority, as compared to 58 per cent support in his 1970 district survey for the Vietnamization program.

Stiffer penalties were suggested by 84 per cent for crimes committed with firearms, but 62 per cent opposed legislation prohibiting the sale and possession of handguns, Randall revealed.

On national spending, 79 per cent favored a healthy budget to control crime and narcotics; 64 per cent favored increased aid to the elderly; 49 per cent supported increased federal aid to education; and 55 per cent saw the need for more spending to preserve the environment, Randall reported. He added that 53 per cent of those responding favored less money for the space program.

Randall also noted that opposition was expressed to the diversion of highway use taxes for mass transit and to the proposed value-added tax. However, he said fourth district voters responded that they favored a national health program, a national presidential primary, and 91 per cent insisted upon work requirement for all able-bodied welfare recipients under 65.

Archives Building Is Needed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick said today that although his office had "saved Missouri taxpayers $2.7 million" through a new records keeping program, the state needs a new archives building.

Kirkpatrick, in an address prepared for a Rotary Club luncheon here, said that since the records management and archives service was established seven years ago "mountains of paper" are being stored more effectively and cheaply.

"We store them in ten-cent cardboard boxes on steel shelving made by the prison, which is a lot cheaper than having them in $100 filing cabinets in state offices."

But still, said Kirkpatrick, the retention of 123 million records has necessitated a new building. The present records center is in an old factory in Jefferson City. "We are out of room and new accessions are coming in every day," he said.

The present building is not fireproof and rent is $37,896 a year, he said.

Northwest Agreement Announced

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Settlement of the 95-day strike by pilots of Northwest Airlines was announced today by Roy Erickson, vice president of Northwest.

Erickson said the agreement came shortly after 8 a.m., capping a negotiation session which began at 7 p.m. Sunday under the auspices of Asst. Secretary of Labor William Uslry Jr.

Erickson said the company would not announce details at this time, but he added the basic economic improvement represents an average increase of 29.5 per cent over the period from July.

The agreement will be submitted to the Pay Board for review and approval, Erickson said.

Erickson said he expects that normal service will be restored within five to seven days to the more than 50 cities served by Northwest.

The session Sunday night and today followed a 16-hour meeting which began Saturday and continued until 2 a.m. Sunday.

Tentative agreement on a new contract had been reached about a month ago but a deadlock developed on a back-to-work agreement for the pilots, who struck the Minneapolis-based airline on June 30, one year after the expiration of their previous three-year contract.

Shooting Incidents Are Fatal

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A rash of shooting and bombing incidents during the weekend killed six persons and wounded another 45 in Northern Ireland, a British army spokesman said today.

Another paramilitary organization made its appearance Sunday during a massive parade to Stormont Castle, home of Northern Ireland's suspended Parliament. The new force calling itself the Service Corps is an offshoot of the hard-line Protestant Vanguard Movement headed by William Craig, former Northern Ireland home affairs minister.

The corps has been in training for six months and "it is ready for action," a spokesman said.

The army disclosed that a soldier killed by a guerrilla sniper in Belfast's Catholic Ardoyne area Saturday was the brother of a private killed in Northern Ireland a year ago.

Thomas Rudman, 20, died after being shot in the chest. His brother John was killed in September last year in a guerrilla ambush at Dungannon.

Area Hospitals

Mrs. Margaret H. Shields, 402 Dal-Whi-Mo Court, is a patient at Washington Hospital Center, Washington, D.C.

Two Men Injured In Highway Crash

Two men were reported in the only injury accident to be recorded in the Pettis County area this weekend by the Missouri Highway Patrol.

Velmar Joseph Fassler, 22, and Marc Hake, 22, both of Tipton, suffered serious injuries in a one-car crash at 4:15 a.m. on U.S. 50, two-tenths of a mile east of Route 5 in Morgan County.

According to a Patrol spokesman, the car in which the two men were riding, driven by Fassler, was traveling at a high rate of speed and went off the right side of the road on a curve, traveled 420 feet down the right shoulder, veered over to the left side of the highway, ran into a ditch and then struck an embankment.

The extent of the injuries to Fassler and Hake were not recorded by the Patrol. Both men were taken to Charles Still Osteopathic Hospital, Jefferson City.

Hearing Date Set In Bad Check Case

Walter Harold LaFavor, 31, Windsor, was formally charged in Pettis County Magistrate Court Monday for obtaining money by means of bogus checks. Oct. 24 was set as the preliminary hearing date.

LaFavor allegedly issued a $525 check Sept. 19 written on the LaMonte Community Bank. The warrant for his arrest also alleges that LaFavor issued a $485 check on the Bank of Knob Noster.

Both checks were made payable to LaFavor and passed at the Sedalia Bank and Trust Co.

A spokesman for the sheriff's office said LaFavor is wanted in Benton and Henry counties on similar charges.

LaFavor has posted $1,000 bond on the charge here. However, he is being held in the Pettis County jail in lieu of bond on the Benton County charge.

Missourian Died In Navy Tragedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy today identified the 19 sailors killed in an explosion inside a gun turret aboard the cruiser Newport News on Sunday off Vietnam.

They included Seaman David L. Scott, Mountain View, Mo.

They Navy said the identity of the 10 wounded would be announced later.

Spainhower

Damages Awarded In Circuit Court

A total of $2,800 was awarded to John G. Kehl and Beverly Kay Kehl in a injury suit Friday in Pettis County Circuit Court.

The defendant in the case was Gilbert V. Jones.

A total of $1,400 was awarded to John Kehl for damages he allegedly received Nov. 18, 1971, in an automobile accident at Fourth and Grand. Jones and Kehl were the drivers of the cars.

A total of $1,400 was also awarded to Kehl's wife Beverly for punitive damages. The two had asked for $1,400 apiece in the petition.

Theft, Vandalism Reported To Police

Joseph R. Fritz Jr., 1008 South Carr, told police eight stereo tapes valued at $45 were taken from his car Saturday night while the vehicle was parked at the Pizza Hut parking lot, 1425 South Limit.

Police reported a windshield on a car owned by Herbert Steffens, Cole Camp, was broken by a "blunt projectile" Sunday morning while the vehicle was parked in front of 317 North Quincy.

LLOYD LEWELLEN

When you go to harvest this year, take your time and make sure you do it right. After all, you went to all the trouble and expense of planting the corn, the extra expense of fertilizing to give you more yields, and you waited all year for the corn to grow so why would you want to jump on that combine and try to set a record of how fast you can get the corn in. I know that if you were driving your pickup down the road and dollar bills were flying out the back that you would stop and make some kind of an adjustment to keep them in — so why not make those adjustments to your combine. If you don't you can just draw yourself a mental picture of little dollar signs flying out the back of that combine while you are driving down those corn rows.

It does not make that much difference in how old or how new your machine is or whether it is painted green, orange, red or any other color, the most important thing in keeping field losses low is you, the operator.

In keeping field losses to a minimum, everything can be summarized into two words and those are the speed and the spacing. This means that as long as you have got all of your speeds correct and the right clearances, you can forget about everything except safety. This term of speed can get more involved than it sounds.

If clutches are slipping it throws the entire operation of the machine off with the relationship to the engine speed.

So, this year before you start harvesting, check for a slipping clutch, check your governor speed of your engine, and check all the belts to see if they are slipping. You might even put some belt dressing on them. Also check your cylinder speeds and concave clearances. You can do that by pulling out your operator's manual and setting them to their specifications. After all, these manuals weren't given to you as most people think, so you might as well get your money's worth out of them.

D.H.I.

During August, Lena and Chancy Houseworth supervised the testing of 756 cows from 16 herds.

The five highest herds for the month were Birdsong, Rolan Oelrich, Everett Billings, Richard Lenz and the Longan dairy. These herds each had over 1,000 pounds of milk and each cow averaged in the herd of 40 or more pounds of butterfat. The smallest herd was 8 cows and the largest herd was 98.

When the eleven highest production cows were ranked for the month the Lenz dairy had three, two from the French dairy and two from the Longan dairy. Each of the following dairies had one each: Roland L. Oelrich, Larry McCollester, Dusty Merk and Everett Billings. These 11 cows produced from 90 to 108 pounds of butterfat per month and the milk production ranged from 2,380 pounds to 3,110 pounds.

Cows that have completed 305 days lactation which produced over 550 pounds were two cows from the Longan dairy, three from the Kenneth and Gale Lenz dairy, six from the Richard Lenz dairy, two Monsees dairy and one each from the following dairies: Roland Oelrich, Gary Infinger and Cloyd Merk. The highest production in this group of cows was a five-year old from the Longan dairy which produced 709 pounds of butterfat and 18,460 pounds of milk in the last 305 days.

Soybean Maturity

Research on the effect of day length and temperature on soybean plants may some day lead to accurate predictions of dates of harvest.

Dave Johnson, agronomist in charge of soybean research, described basic research on Soybean maturity to visitors at a field day on Bradford Farm at Columbia.

As part of the study, some soybean plants are kept under spotlights all night during the summer. The plants under the 24 hours of light are tall, green, and still growing, while plants of the same variety under normal day length conditions are short and mature. The beans under the lights did not bloom until 30 to 40 days after they normally would, Johnson said.

In another part of the experiment, two large plastic tents are placed over soybean plants every night. One tent is air-conditioned and the second tent is heated. The average night time temperature during August was 75 degrees, Johnson said. The cooled soybeans were kept at 65 degrees and the heated beans at 85 degrees.

The beans in the air-conditioned tent have matured, while the beans in the heated tent are still growing.

"This is completely backward to what we expected," Johnson said. "When we set up the experiment, we just knew the heated beans would mature first; but that's not the way it turned out."

"This just demonstrates how little basic research has been conducted on soybeans since they were introduced into this country," the agronomist said.

Control Prices

Speculators may drive down prices up and down from day to day, but farmers will exert a strong influence on the trend of prices through the coming year, because producers will have control of most of the supply of corn. These facts are evident from a review of the prospective supply and utilization figures.

The carry-over of old corn on Oct. 1 is expected to be around 1,100 million bushels. The new crop is a large one, second only to the huge crop harvested last fall. The new crop, however, probably will not be large enough to meet the needs for domestic use and exports. Farmers are expected to put a substantial amount of the new crop under price-support. Thus, the billion-dollar question is, "At what prices will farmers redeem and sell enough corn — new and old — to meet market demands?"

Estimates of market requirements for corn during the marketing year beginning Oct. 1 vary considerably, but most seem to be around 5,200 million to 5,300 million bushels. If use and exports do take 5,300 million bushels, farmers may be able to redeem and sell at a profit not only all of the new crop that they put under loan, but also about 200 million bushels of old corn they now hold under reseal loans. Up-to-date figures are not available to us at the time of this writing, but the total amount of corn under loan by farmers a few weeks ago exceeded 700 million bushels.

Many farmers recently could sell corn for delivery next July at prices that were 20 to 25 cents over the break-even redemption prices for 1971 corn. Some have been taking advantage of this, either by contracting with elevators or by selling futures. Others are holding out for a better deal. Time will tell which farmers are the smartest — or luckiest — ones.

If prices of corn could be held at near recent levels, farmers could sell at a good profit all of the more than 600 million bushels of old corn that they hold under reseal loans. But the market may need only about a third of the old corn that farmers hold under loans. Redemptions and sales in excess of market needs would push prices down to near break-even, redemption levels.

Separate Blasts Noted in K.C.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Two blasts rocked homes in Kansas City and suburban Raytown early Sunday. There were no injuries.

Police said both explosions may have been caused by dynamite.

Mrs. Jessie Brown, seven children and a boarder escaped injury in the blast at 416 Indiana and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Lightner, their three children, Mrs. Lightner's sister and brother-in-law and their two children, escaped unhurt in the explosion at 5209 Sterling in Raytown.

Competitive Promise In Australian Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — Changes in Australian agriculture eventually may result in more competitive problems for U.S. grain and livestock producers.

The Agriculture Department's Foreign Agricultural Service today said beef production in Australia is continuing to soar as many producers shift from sheep to cattle.

Beef production was up more than 10 per cent the past season to a record 1,145,000 tons. "Further boosts are possible this year (1972-73) due to cattle numbers increasing faster than meat production," the FAS said in a report.

Also, the report showed, Australia produced a record feed grain crop the past year as the government imposed tighter acreage restrictions on wheat.

Barley output rose 32 per cent, but sorghum grain production declined. Corn, a relatively minor crop, also increased.

The rise in Australian beef production and the indication that foundation herds are expanding mean that Australia may be looking ahead to an even greater share of the U.S. import market.

Beef imports, low-grade meat used mainly for manufactured food such as hamburger, have been held down until recently under a 1964 quota law. But President Nixon last June 26 suspended "voluntary restraint" arrangements with foreign countries for the remainder of the year in an effort to head off rising retail prices.

Australia and a dozen other countries have increased meat shipments to the U.S. market as a result. By August the total was up 12 per cent from a year earlier.

There has been no official word that the suspension will continue into 1973, but cattle producer groups have been led to understand the quota formula will be restored.

But the cattle explosion in Australia may be a signal that the country at least will seek a larger "voluntary restraint" level for the American market when the curbs are reimposed.

Australia and neighboring New Zealand historically provide about 70 per cent of the fresh, chilled and frozen beef imported here.

The increase in feed grain production also may be worrisome later on to U.S. producers. Japan is a big buyer of Australian feed grain and also is a major market for U.S. farmers.

Thus, if Australia can maintain its supply, American producers might find some of their dependable exports reduced as the Japanese turn more to the competition.

WASHINGTON (AP) — By 1980, says the Agriculture Department, about 180,000 city families a year will be buying second homes in the country, an 80 per cent increase in the trend today.

Demand for "country living" is growing at a phenomenal rate, including more land for recreational purposes, says a report in the current issue of "Farm Index" published by the Economic Research Service.

"One estimate is that by the year 2000 we will need 70 million recreational acres within a one-hour or two-hour drive from the user," the report said. "That's eight times the nine million acres available in 1956, the year of the latest survey."

McGovern's Daughter Discounts Pollsters

But is there worry in the McGovern household over recent public-opinion polls that show Democrat McGovern far behind President Nixon in this year's presidential race?

Polls are absurd, says Mary McGovern, at 17 the youngest of the South Dakota Democrat's five children. "I don't know much about polls, but they've never been right about my father before."

Adds Ann McGovern Mead, at 27 the oldest child: Her father's "method and personality are not getting across. People don't have a clear idea of who he is."

The two daughters discussed the campaign in an interview at the McGoverns' Japanese-style house in Washington.

"Basically," she said, "everyone in my family is pretty shy."

"It's kind of weird," she said. "I always thought I could look at criticisms of my father and be, you know, emotionally detached. But that's really impossible.

"I've found myself getting hurt by some of the things people were saying. And like, hearing people cut him down all the time is really a drag."

Ann has had a different reaction. "The campaign has done a lot of good things for me," she said. "In a way, I'm doing things I never thought I could do, like speaking and campaigning alone."

Both said their parents have put no pressure on them to participate in the campaign. And at first, they were hesitant.

"I had a lot of anxiety about campaigning," said Ann who has spent three to four days a week canvassing and speaking for her father since the Democratic convention in Miami Beach, Fla., last July. "But now it's a good feeling that we're all working together toward a specific goal.

"It's really intensified the family's feelings about each other. We're probably closer than we've ever been although we're spending less time together."

Both daughters said that, although they fully support their father's quest for the presidency, they don't always agree with him on the issues.

For example, they believe that abortion should be a private matter decided by each woman without any governmental involvement. McGovern has said abortion is a question for each state to consider.

Ann is married to Wilbur Mead, a college student at Augustana College in South Dakota and a Marine veteran who served in Vietnam. They have two children.

Accidents Fatal For Thirteen

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thirteen persons were killed in traffic accidents in Missouri over the weekend, including five in a head-on collision near Fair Play Sunday.

Ronald Lee Courtney, 19, Aldridge, Mo.; Donald Kirklin, 51; his wife, Emma, and two of their children, Timothy, 20, and Carolyn, 17, all of Bolivar, Mo., died when the Courtney auto attempted to pass and collided with the oncoming Kirklin car at the crest of a hill on Missouri 32.

Mattie Jarzenbeck, 32, Sikeston, Mo., died Sunday in a one-car accident on Interstate 55 two miles north of Fruitland.

Gary Clark, 17, St. Louis, was killed when his car slammed into an abutment in St. Louis County on Interstate 55.

Killed Saturday:

Mary Kay Owen, 33, Hallsville, Mo., and her stepdaughter, Tonya, 5, in a two-car accident at Columbia.

Alvin D. Webb, 21, was injured fatally when his car struck a utility pole in Kansas City.

Killed in mishaps earlier in the weekend were Michael Krabiel, 19, Kansas City, and Rex Bell, 47, Raytown.

Plant In the Fall For Bright Spring

Daffodils welcome spring with whites and yellows, crocus with purples and yellows, but for a rainbow of color in spring, plant tulips this fall. Tulips are available in more colors and forms than any other spring flowering bulb.

Novel forms and new colors have always been characteristic of the tulip, and at one time large sums of money were paid for a single bulb that was different. "Tulipomania" reached its peak in Holland in the 1630's when as much as $1,500 was paid for a single bulb — a very large sum of money at that time. The speculation in tulips did not last long, but even after prices dropped, they were still too expensive for many people. Today tulips are available to everyone who wants them.

Best known are the Darwin tulips, but do not overlook a newer group — the Darwin hybrids that have greater vigor. Other types include the lily-flowered with pointed, reflexed petals; parrot tulips with fringed, scalloped, and wavy petals; double tulips; multiflowered tulips; and many more.

Almost every color and color combination may be found among the tulips. Such unlikely flower colors as black (really a maroon-black) and green (Veridiflora tulips) can be found among the tulip varieties and species.

To get the most satisfaction from tulips select good quality bulbs. Healthy bulbs are firm and have an unblemished skin. Diseased bulbs are soft, moldy, or discolored. Purchase bulbs as soon as possible after they appear on the shelves in the stores. Bulbs gradually dry out on the shelves, and the sooner purchased, the better they will be. If you cannot plant the bulbs within a few days of purchase, keep them in the vegetable crisper in the refrigerator to prevent them from drying out.

Plant tulip bulbs in groups of 12 to 25 of one kind for the most pleasant landscape effect. Bulb mixtures give a spotted landscape and therefore are best used in a cutting garden.

Tulips show off best against a background of evergreens. They may also be used among perennials in the flower border where they will be hidden later. They do not complete well with large vigorous perennials, or with the roots of trees and shrubs. If they are wanted for flowering a second year they should be placed where they receive eight to ten hours of full sunlight each day.

For the most uniform and spectacular flowering effect tulips should be replaced every year. Those left in place often produce smaller flowers in a more irregular pattern.

Tulips usually flower well the first year after planting even under poor conditions. However, to produce flowers in succeeding years, soil must be prepared well, and drainage must be excellent. Heavy clay soils need to have sand and organic matter worked into them. If drainage is poor, a raised bed for bulbs may be the best solution.

When preparing the bed add liberal amounts of organic matter such as leaf mold or peat moss at about six to eight bushels per 100 square feet. Two cups of bonemeal per square yard of bed space may also be added, or if preferred, a complete fertilizer may also be used, but avoid those high in nitrogen.

Space tulips about six inches apart and eight inches deep. In heavy soils, or shallow topsoils, plant the bulbs only four to five inches deep.

Couple Killed

WATKINS, Colo. (AP) — Robert Patterson, 20, and his wife, Jill Patterson, 18, of Waynesville, Mo., were killed in a head-on collision on Interstate 70 two miles west of Watkins Sunday, the highway patrol said.

Big Foot, a Sioux Indian chief, was killed during a U.S. Army attack on his village at Wounded Knee, S.D., in December 1890.

Demos Optimistic Over House Races

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite polls forecasting dim prospects for the Democrats in the presidential election, liberal House Democrats see a good chance for increasing their strength in the next Congress.

An unusual number of retirements and primary election defeats have left gaping vacancies in the Democratic ranks, most of them among senior and conservative members.

Although a lot will depend on who is elected to fill the vacancies, the liberals see a strong possibility that they will wind up in control of the House Democratic Caucus.

With that as their goal, they are fashioning a number of reform proposals dealing with seniority, committee secrecy and the powers of the party leadership for possible action by the caucus next January.

The showing made by George McGovern in his race against President Nixon is important, but not crucial, to their hopes, say the liberal strategists. Most of the same polls that show McGovern far behind also show the Democrats are likely to retain control of the House.

The Democrats now have a 254-to-177 edge over the Republicans with four seats vacant. Campaign officials for both parties expect the Republicans to gain, but even the most optimistic among the GOP professionals place the pickup at fewer than 30 seats, with 218 seats needed for control.

The liberals say their great opportunity lies in the changed makeup of the Democratic majority that retirements, resignations to run for other office, and primary defeats make inevitable.

Six committee chairmen, the strongest forces against change in House procedures—and 21 other Democrats considered more likely to resist reforms—are among the departees, as against six reform-minded members. Twenty-six Republicans are also leaving, assuring a significant turnover in the House at large.

The reforms being worked on by the liberals are relatively modest. There are no plans to abolish the seniority system, throw out Speaker Carl Albert or make committee chairmen powerless.

The proposals have as their general aim strengthening of the caucus—the organization of all House Democrats—in order to make the committees and their chairmen more responsive to party policies. Consideration is also being given to means of increasing the power of the speaker for the same purpose.

State Department Claims Control Struggle Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials say they are winning their fight to keep the Commerce and Treasury departments from taking over the major role in U.S. foreign economic policy.

Already faced with the loss of much decision-making power in international political matters, the State Department has been hard-pressed by the Senate as well as Commerce and Treasury to hang on to its control over overseas-trade policy.

But officials at State now say they are much more relaxed and indicate confidence a study nearing completion by the Office of Management and Budget will recommend a major decision-making role for the department in economic affairs.

The OMB review began six months ago after Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., introduced a bill to establish an "International Commerce Service" within the Commerce Department that would effectively take all trade matters out of State's hands.

In addition, the Treasury Department, particularly when run by John Connally, indicated it wanted control over foreign economic policy.

And there was a sign the White House was interested in possibly setting up an independent agency to operate in the trade area much as Henry Kissinger's National Security Council now runs foreign policy generally.

In the face of these cross-currents, all the interested agencies sought the OMB study and Magnuson agreed to hold up action on his bill until the review is completed.

The reasons behind the new State Department optimism stem from several factors. For one, Connally is no longer in the government.

Regarding the Commerce Department, sources at State say the initial drive came from the then-Secretary Maurice H. Stans who, they maintain, was dogmatic in his belief that the State Department was incapable of handling economic matters.

The new Commerce secretary, Peter Peterson, is described on the other hand as pragmatic and cooperative in seeking a genuine solution to the problems facing American trade and overseas economic policy.

There is no doubt, the experts say, that there was a lack of direction as well as divisions of responsibility, interagency rivalry and not enough emphasis on economic policy in State. The most-promising foreign-service officers fought to stay out of the economic sections.

But now, particularly since the department was awakened by the Connally-Stans attacks, the emphasis is shifting, the sources say, and economics is fast becoming a very important area.

Pennsylvania's Presque Isle, which in French means "almost an island," was so named by French explorers in 1740 because Lake Erie storms regularly threatened to wash away the narrow neck linking the sandy peninsula to the mainland.

Abzug To Succeed Ryan in Congress

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Bella Abzug has been selected to succeed the late Rep. William F. Ryan as Democratic candidate for Congress.

Democratic county committeemen from the 20th Congressional District voted 553 to 327 Sunday night for Mrs. Abzug over Priscilla Ryan, widow of the congressman who died of cancer Sept. 17.

The flamboyant Mrs. Abzug, 52, lost her own district through reapportionment. She challenged Ryan, a fellow liberal, in the June primary but lost by 18,000 votes.

Feels Education Was Irrelevant

Dear Ann Landers: I have been sitting here reflecting on my education — having just graduated from college — and I must say it was sadly inadequate. For example, neither in my standard high school biology course nor in my 12 hours of college biology was I ever taught the difference between a king snake and a copperhead. However, in the tenth grade I had to memorize verbatim the 17 steps to the conjugation of the Paramecium.

Never once in a classroom or a test, either in high school or college, was I told what I might expect in the way of job application blanks or interviews. I never knew what a split infinitive was until last week when a friend informed me I had used one. Although I took a course in typing I was never taught how to change a typewriter ribbon. The list goes on and on. And yet we are told that our education is "high quality."

The absence of classroom relevancy is a traumatic shock to one emerging from school and entering the real world. What gives? Don't the educators see this? Or do I have my glasses on crooked? — Education Gapped

Dear Ed: You've struck a raw nerve. This has been one of my favorite beefs for the last 20 years. If you think education is irrelevant now you should have been around in the 30's and 40's.

I hope those responsible for planning curriculum at every level, from kindergarten up through medical school, will read your letter twice, and then read it a third time. You've hit America in a highly vulnerable spot.

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter Julie, age 19, has been enthralled with soap operas since the age of 12. Her emotional involvement with the characters used to be rather amusing, but it's gone beyond the funny stage and we are concerned.

A few months ago Julie changed shifts in order to stay home and watch a couple of soap operas that had switched to afternoon time. She is now working from 4 'til midnight. Two weeks ago, one of the story lines began an episode that closely paralleled a tragic happening in her life. Since that time she has stopped eating and has sunk into a depression. The girl is living on potato chips and candy bars.

What can we do? Don't suggest professional help. She is convinced psychiatry is phony and all medical doctors are actors. — Worried Parents

Dear Worried: I am not surprised your daughter thinks all doctors are actors — so many of the soap operas take place in hospitals.

You know your daughter is emotionally ill and she should see a psychiatrist. If she refuses, you cannot force her to do so. Perhaps one of her friends can get through to her. Often the same advice from a person not related will carry some weight. Do try, and good luck.

Dear Ann: The supervisor at the loading dock asked me if I'd sit with his infant son while he and his wife went to a reception. Their babysitter conked out. I agreed, although I had very little sleep the night before and was dead tired. The kid started to cry so I decided to entertain him by pinning a bath towel around myself like a diaper. I put on his bib and bonnet and stuck his bottle in my mouth and pretended to drink it. When the boss and his wife returned the kid was screaming and I was asleep on the couch in that stupid outfit. How do I get my job back? — Canned

Dear Canned: Plead temporary insanity.

Fischer and Hope — Match One-Liners

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bobby Fischer, comedian?

It happened in beautiful downtown Burbank Sunday night as the world's chess champion matched one-line gags with Bob Hope for the comedian's Oct. 5 NBC special.

Fischer, who won the title from Russian Boris Spassky in Iceland last month, earned $10,000 for about 10 minutes of air time and proved himself an able comic.

Among the gags:

Hope: "Bobby, I heard that all through your match, you were given advice from Henry Kissinger. Is that true?"

Fischer: "That's right."

Hope: "Did it help?"

"It will if I ever meet Jill St. John, " said Fischer in reference to the actress who has been one of the presidential adviser's frequent dates.

The 29-year-old Fischer showed few of the concerns for arrangements that he displayed during his championship match with Spassky.

Rehearsing a comedy match with Hope, he turned the chess table around and adjusted the time clock, but expressed no concern over the lighting and television cameras, two problem areas that highlighted his match with Spassky.

"We didn't know until Friday whether Bobby was really coming," Hope remarked. "American Airlines called me to say that he had missed two planes and then finally they reported that the door had closed on a plane and he was inside it."

Fischer arrived late for rehearsal because he had overslept. But he seemed to have his lines well rehearsed and delivered them in a firm, Brooklyn-accented voice.

"Bob, you don't believe all that publicity about my being tempermental, do you?," said Fischer in another exchange with Hope.

Hope: "No . . . and when can I get my dressing room back?"

Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Cirrhosis Means No More Alcohol

Dear Dr. Lamb — I wonder if you can help me. I have had cirrhosis of the liver for six years now, I am able to be up and do my work but no heavy work. My doctor says all that can be done is to rest. So I wonder if there is anything else.

Dear Reader — There are several different causes of cirrhosis of the liver. Cirrhosis really refers to scarring of the liver that follows in the wake of inflammation of the liver. This can be the result of drinking too much alcohol over long periods of time, or taking in any toxic substance which damages the liver. It can follow inflammation of the liver from any cause, viral or bacterial, and by disease of the bile tract, by stones and even secondary to heart failure.

The amount of cirrhosis can vary a great deal from a mild liver dysfunction to a very severe dysfunction that can even cause coma and death. Clearly no one answer is going to satisfy all these problems and in treatment it's going to make a great deal of difference what causes cirrhosis to begin with.

Anyone who has cirrhosis of the liver should not drink any alcohol in any form at any time. They are wise to take vitamin supplements at least being certain to take an all-purpose vitamin tablet daily for the minimal daily requirements. Some patients will need supplemental iron and others will need to restrict the salt in their diet. All patients will need a nutritious balanced diet, unless they are really having liver failure, and then special diets and hospitalization are indicated. In acute illnesses of the liver, hormones related to the cortisone group are sometimes used.

Rest is important in individuals who have liver diseases but in individuals who do not have liver disease, too much rest can lead to fatigue and poor physical fitness which isn't good for the health either. To evaluate how much activity a person should have requires first-hand knowledge of the degree of liver damage present. One of the astronauts for example, had a mild form of liver, dysfunction and despite this, is one of our space heroes and has continued to lead an active useful life with no limitations imposed by his liver problems.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I read in your column that a woman can sometimes get pregnant anytime, but is it possible to get pregnant on the last day of the period or the day after the period. Also, if a pregnant woman has X rays taken of her teeth and she's not wearing a lead apron, can the X rays hurt the fetus?

Dear Reader — If a woman is regular she usually will not get pregnant on the last day of her period or immediately after her period. But women are not always regular, and it is possible to get pregnant at the end of your period. As far as dental X rays taken early in pregnancy, they are not likely to cause any difficulty with the baby, with or without a lead apron.

McGovern Gains In Gallup Poll

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The latest Gallup Poll shows Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern inching up on President Nixon, but still 28 percentage points behind.

The survey released Sunday showed an improvement of six points for McGovern over the previous survey.

Taken Sept. 22-25, the new survey said 61 per cent of the respondents favored Nixon and 33 per cent McGovern. One per cent preferred other candidates and 5 per cent were undecided.

The narrowest spread between the two candidates was in the industrial North, where Nixon's lead was 59 to 36 per cent.

Polly's Pointers

Entitled To Service At Filling Station

DEAR POLLY — I am a service station manager who would like to comment on E.M.'s trouble with getting her windshield cleaned when she buys gas. DEMAND that the windshield be washed because, as a paying customer, you deserve at least that. Do not tip the attendant for, if you have to go as far as to ask for such service, he does not deserve one and is probably too lazy to put the tip in his pocket anyway. No cars leave our station without the windows being washed, the belts, battery, tires and oil checked even if the purchase only amounts to a dollar. Either the personnel in the station she goes to are extremely lazy or they do not appreciate her business. Discuss the matter with the station manager as he may not be aware of the lousy service you are getting. — BOB

DEAR POLLY — I learned the following handy Pointer while at college and would like to pass it on to any students or housewives who have ever ruined a garment by improper washing. Buy a recipe card box, cards to fit, and select a storage place near your wash area. When a new garment is bought, write a brief description of it on a card, fasten the label with washing instructions and the receipt to the card and file alphabetically according to the type of garment. Also, when fabric for making a garment is bought, obtain the washing instructions from the bolt at the store and fasten a piece of the fabric with this to the card. When in doubt about how to care for a garment look up the instructions and perhaps save a garment from permanent damage. — BONNIE

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for travelers who stop at motels. It always seemed such a shame to throw away those used pieces of soap that they give one so I now carry along a soap dish with a lid. Each morning when we leave a motel I squeeze the used pieces of soap together and put in my dish. By the time you have stayed a night or two in motels you will have a nice size bar of soap to use in the shower that is more convenient than those tiny bars. — MRS. F. P. A.

For Women

Club Note

An Autumn Fun Day for retired and elderly people in Otterville has been planned for Oct. 15 by members of Happy Homemaker's Extension Club. To be held at Otterville Baptist Church, a covered dish dinner will be provided to those who attend the event.

At the Sept. 25 meeting of the club, it was voted by the 10 members attending that cake and frosting mixes would be sent to State School No. 21 in Sedalia.

A program on ceramics was given by Mrs. Larry Petree for members and three guests who were Mrs. Dale Jeffries, Miss Dana Starke and Mrs. Terry Edwards.

It was announced that the county rally night is Oct. 11 at Blackwater School and the Cooper County council meeting will be Nov. 10.

Artsy Coats

Short, swingy tent coats, that resemble artists' smocks, are accessorized with scarves and oversized berets for an even more artsy effect. These coats, which feature blousey sleeves and slash pockets, look great with pants or short skirts.

Seeks National Office In ABWA Organization

Miss Mary Belle Harbit

Nominated for national president of the American Business Women's Association is Miss Mary Belle Harbit, Kansas City, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Harbit, 1804 West 18th.

A member of Trail Blazers chapter, Miss Harbit has served as national secretary-treasurer and as national nominating committee chairman of the 65,000 member association.

She is currently serving on the national board of directors as the south central district vice-president. Miss Harbit is administrative and technical supervisor of Radiologist, Inc., Kansas City.

Election of national officers will occur at the Oct. 12-15 national convention in Miami Beach, Fla. An educational association with more than 1,000 chapters, ABWA is directed toward the improvement of employer-employee relations and the advancement of women in business through more efficient service to business, it was reported.

Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of Missouri

To be submitted to the qualified voters of the State of Missouri at the general election To be held on Tuesday, the seventh day of November, 1972.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 1

(Submitted by the 76th General Assembly Second Regular Session)

Authorizing the General Assembly to provide:

(1) For exemption from taxation of:

(a) Household goods and articles of personal use;

(b) Part of the valuation of real property owned as a homestead by persons over the age of 65;

(c) Intangible property owned by individuals, labor, agricultural and horticultural organizations, not for profit corporations, and hospitals exempt from the state income tax.

(2) For the restitution to the respective political subdivisions of revenue lost by reason of such exemption.

(3) Financial relief to persons over the age of 65 who occupy rental property as their homes.

JOINT RESOLUTION

Submitting to the qualified voters of Missouri, an amendment repealing section 6 of Article X of the constitution of Missouri relating to exemptions from taxation and adopting three new sections in lieu thereof relating to the same subject.

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring therein:

That at the next general election to be held in the state of Missouri, on Tuesday next following the first Monday in November, 1972, or at a special election to be called by the governor for that purpose, there is hereby submitted to the qualified voters of this state, for adoption or rejection, the following amendment to Article X of the constitution of the state of Missouri:

Section 1. Section 6, Article X, constitution of Missouri, is repealed and three new sections adopted in lieu thereof, to be known as sections 6, 6(a) and 6(b) to read as follows:

Section 6. All property, real and personal, of the state, counties and other political subdivisions, and nonprofit cemeteries, shall be exempt from taxation; and all property, real and personal, not held for private or corporate profit and used exclusively for religious worship, for schools and colleges, for purposes purely charitable, or for agricultural and horticultural societies may be exempted from taxation by general law. In addition to the above, household goods, furniture, wearing apparel and articles of personal use and adornment owned and used by a person in his home or dwelling place may be exempt from taxation by general law but any such law may provide for approximate restitution to the respective political subdivisions of revenues lost by reason of the exemption. All laws exempting from taxation property other than the property enumerated in this Article, shall be void.

Section 6(a). The general assembly may provide that a portion of the valuation of real property actually occupied by the owner or owners thereof, who are over the age of sixty-five, as a homestead, be exempted from the payment of taxes thereon, in such amounts and upon such conditions as may be determined by law, or the general assembly may provide for certain tax credits or rebates in lieu of such an exemption, but any such law shall further provide for restitution to the respective political subdivisions of revenues lost by reason of the exemption, and any such law may also provide for comparable financial relief to persons of such ages who are not the owners of homesteads but who occupy rental property as their homes.

Section 6(b). The general assembly may by general law exempt from taxation all intangible property, including taxation on the yield thereof, when owned by:

(1) Individuals; or

(2) Labor, agricultural or horticultural organizations; or

(3) Corporations or associations organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific or educational purposes, no part of the net income of which inures to the benefit of any private stockholder or individual; or

(4) Hospitals which are exempt from payment of Missouri State Income Tax.

Any such law may provide for approximate reimbursement to the various political subdivisions, by the state, of revenues lost because of the exemption.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 2

(Submitted by the 76th General Assembly, Second Regular Session)

Authorizes the General Assembly to consider bills returned by the Governor five days or less before last day bills can be considered in odd-numbered years by placing the bill at the top of the calendar for consideration at next regular session and if bills are so returned, in even-numbered years by reconvening for a period not to exceed ten days.

JOINT RESOLUTION

Submitting to the qualified voters of Missouri, an amendment repealing section 32 of Article III of the constitution of Missouri relating to the general assembly and adopting one new section in lieu thereof relating to the same subject.

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring therein:

That at the next general election to be held in the state of Missouri, on Tuesday next following the first Monday in November, 1972, or at a special election to be called by the governor for that purpose, there is hereby submitted to the qualified voters of this state, for adoption or rejection, the following amendment to article III of the constitution of the state of Missouri:

Section 1. Section 32, article III, constitution of Missouri, is repealed and one new section adopted in lieu thereof, to be known as section 32, to read as follows:

Section 32. Every bill presented to the governor and returned with his objections shall stand as reconsidered in the house to which it is returned. If the governor returns any bill with his objections on or after the fifth day before the last day upon which a session of the general assembly may consider bills in odd-numbered years, the bill shall be placed at the top of the calendar of the house to which it is returned for consideration when the general assembly reconvenes the following year. If the governor returns any bill with his objections on or after the fifth day before the last day upon which a session of the general assembly may consider bills in even-numbered years, the general assembly shall automatically reconvene on the first Wednesday following the first Monday in September of such even-numbered year for a period not to exceed ten calendar days for the sole purpose of considering bills returned by the governor. The objections of the governor shall be entered upon the journal and the house shall proceed to consider the question pending, which shall be in this form: "Shall the bill pass, the objections of the governor thereto notwithstanding?" The vote upon this question shall be taken by yeas and nays and if two-thirds of the elected members of the house vote in the affirmative the presiding officer of that house shall certify that fact on the roll, attesting the same by his signature, and send the bill with the objections of the governor to the other house, in which like proceedings shall be had in relation thereto. The bill thus certified shall be deposited in the office of the secretary of state as an authentic act and shall become a law.

Florida Shooting Is Brutal

BRANDON, Fla. (AP) — A young divorcee and her two children watched helplessly as a gunman killed four persons including her parents and brother in a Brandon farmhouse, police say.

Police said the assailant fired one shot through a screen window early Sunday, killing one person, and then burst into the farmhouse and shot three others.

The victims were identified as John T. Sanders, 50; his wife, Catherine, 37; their 15-year-old son, Earl, and a friend of the family, James Richmond Bridges, 28, who was shot as he lay in bed, police said.

Police said they arrested Thomas Turner Chambers, 32, of Gadsden, Ala., and 21-year-old Robert Harris of Largo, after a high speed car chase. Both men were charged with first degree murder.

A neighbor, Mrs. Mary Davis, said Mrs. Johnson came running from the house, crying hysterically and yelling, "They're all dead. They're all dead."

Police said she told the Davis family the gunman spared her, saying "I'm not going to kill you, just the ones you love most."

Hillsborough County sheriff's officials said the young divorcee had been seeing Chambers for three years but left him about three weeks ago in Texas.

Between 1643 and 1814, a total of some 3,000 books were published in Norway.

Openness Is Noticeable On Communist Mainland

SHANGHAI (AP) — A new mood of openness was noticeable in China as the country celebrated the 23rd anniversary of the Communist takeover.

One example was provided by Chinese who seemed to have little hesitation about telling westerners in a public park that former Defense Minister Lin Piao was a "traitor who wanted to restore capitalism," and that members of his family died with him in the Trident plane which crashed last September in Mongolia.

The news about Lin — who once was designated the heir of Mao Tsu-tung — is not particularly new. It has long been rumored abroad and was confirmed by Chinese in high places in Peking and elsewhere two months ago.

What made these statements startling is that they came not from a high official, but from a clothing store clerk, an ordinary newspaperman and a member of a local revolutionary committee.

They made them in a Shanghai park to American newsmen in the presence of about 20 attentive Chinese bystanders. The comments showed the extent to which China in recent months has become a more open society.

Not everythring can be said on any subject. But compared to the tight secrecy which prevailed on political issues when this writer last visited China in April 1971, the change seemed phenomenal.

Last year Chinese in official positions spoke freely about their personal lives, which astonished resident newsmen and diplomats. But they drew the line at politcal topics. That was China's business and not to be shared with visiting correspondents, they indicated.

People who probed too deeply, were given short negative answers.

But the new mood of openness was mirrored in 23rd anniversary celebrations throughout the country on Sunday. Instead of massive parades of official organizations in Shanghai, there was informal entertainment in the public parks by jugglers, acrobats, musicians, actors, gymnasts and children.

The mood was that of a country fair.

In Peking, the anniversary was marked with parties in parks and "hundreds of thousands" watched operas, theatrical productions and sporting events," Hsinhua, the Chinese news agency reported.

RECONCILIATION NOTE

TOKYO (AP) — When the "roll call of nations" was read at the recent Baptist World Congress here, the name of the Union of South Africa brought two women walking across the platform, hand in hand.

Coming from an area of legalized apartheid or racial separation, the two, one black and one white, each recited in their native language, "Reconciled through Jesus Christ."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The expression, "our country, right or wrong," was originated by Stephen Decatur, a U.S. naval officer, at a dinner in his honor at Norfolk, Va., in 1816. The original quote, given as a toast, was: "Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right and always successful, right or wrong," The World Almanac notes.

Carl Rowan

Football makes us brothers everyone

WASHINGTON — Let the Catholics and Protestants fight; let Republicans and Democrats bicker. Maybe they're for real.

But the true "religion" in this country, the only politics that counts in October, is professional football.

Rowan

You can have Muhammad Ali vs. Joe Frazier, but give me one guy for Bill Kilmer and another for Sonny Jurgenson, just after the two fans have spread sandwiches and booze on the station wagon tailgate in the stadium parking lot, and I'll show you a fight worth watching.

In 26 cities across this land, and hundreds of towns nearby, the great Sunday loyalty no longer is expressed in fervent singing of "The Old Rugged Cross," but in feverish praise of a rugged front four dealing mayhem to the opposing quarterback.

Oh, they travel farther to see their 40 young supermen gladiate on the gridiron against 40 visiting he-men than they would ever think of traveling to practice one of the standard religions.

And in this sybaritic society, the cult has moved far past the old custom of bringing a hip flask of booze and a pocketful of corned beef sandwiches. You walk through the parking lots now and, incredibly, you see eight Namath-worshippers from Doomsville spreading pate, popping champagne, by way of strengthening themselves for whatever cheering, or booing, becomes necessary.

You even see lovers-of-Larry Brown pulling full-sized barbecue grills from campers and mobile homes, sending up meat-perfumed smoke signals for their beloved Redskins that would make a Comanche chief drool.

Football worship has not yet taken over Sundays to the extent that we are throwing Christians to lions—except perhaps to the Detroit variety. Those sensitive millionaires who own pro football even show a certain delicacy by starting their games after what presumably has been Mr. and Mrs. America's attendance at church.

But you watch the madding throng and suspect that the only prayers most of those fans utter on Sunday is that Jan Stenerud will miss (or make) that victory-or-defeat field goal. Or that Joe Namath's hangover is for real.

You sort of suspect that, counting the tickets, the beer, the hotdogs, the pennants, the wagers, a lot more money goes into pro football every Sunday than goes into all those collection plates at the 328,657 churches that dot America.

But, again, football IS the new religion. The ritual and the pomp are clearly there. The cheerers have their catechism. And the superstitions that pervade pro football make a Hottentot witch doctor look like a super sophisticate.

What about the guy who wears the same unlaundered shirt to the games because he thinks it brings his warriors luck? He seems so sincere that you refuse to entertain the cynical notion that his way of getting a couple more precious tickets is to drive his neighbors off holding their noses.

But can that "urbane" newspaperman, long claiming to harbor no silly superstitions, really smirk? After all, doesn't he take four lucky pork chop sandwiches to every Redskin encounter?

But, then, you ask, "What's wrong with football as a religion?" It may be doing as much to unite people, to promote a sense of common destiny, as those gatherings in the temples and cathedrals.

Year after year you see the same fans gathering in section 30X, or 4119, people from vastly different backgrounds and interests. More than by the flag, they are drawn together in their common passion for seeing the Dallas Cowboys ground into the dirt.

They gaze upon their beloved battlers, the blond-haired whites, the fiercely-towering blacks, the clever-footed East Europeans. There are no niggers, no Polacks, no wops, no dagos, no WASPs, out on that field. Just Bears, or Bengals, or Saints, all.

It is, in truth, a microcosm of what the whole society could be like if we could only be as devotedly religious about the rest of life as we are about football.

Judge Bardgett should be ousted

It would be tragic if Missouri's voters grant State Supreme Court Judge John E. Bardgett a 12-year term on the state's highest judicial body.

Judge Bardgett, our readers will recall, was reprimanded by his colleagues rather lightly for his misconduct in an incident in Jefferson City last Feb. 9.

Bardgett allegedly cursed a state lawmaker while on a tour of Jefferson City night spots in the company of Missouri House Speaker James Godfrey. Judge Bardgett, who publicly apologized for his behavior, was reportedly mad at the lawmaker because the latter voted against a plush pay raise for all state judges, including those on the top court.

Godfrey was a party to a case before the top court at the time of the incident.

The State Commission on Retirement, Removal and Discipline subsequently recommended the judge be reprimanded by his peers. It vound the judge guilty on two counts. It ruled Bardgett was not drunk. While some witnesses might disagree, this is not the real issue in the case. Bardgett's other public deportment and his association with a lawyer friend, at the time the latter was in a case pending in the top court, definitely were.

Bardgett's actions, in our view, were reprehensible, unbecoming a judge and in violation of the Canon of Judicial Ethics. This is why he should be removed from the top court.

Yet in a poll conducted by the Missouri Bar Association among state lawyers regarding retention of Judge Bardgett, the latter made no mention of the "reprimand" in the biography he submitted for distribution. The Bar Association allows judges under the non-partisan court plan, who are up for election, to write their own backgrounds.

We can understand Judge Bardgett's reluctance to include the censure, but it should be an official part of the record, whether presented to the lawyers or the general voting public.

We concur with Rep. John Russell (R-Lebanon), House minority leader, who suggests that the "image and reputation of the legal and judicial profession will be greatly jeopardized" if the judge is retained in office.

Equally important, we believe it is imperative that all Missourians be thoroughly familiar with the case before they decide whether or not to retain Judge Bardgett on the state's top court.

By his non-judicial and reprehensible conduct, Judge Bardgett, in our opinion, has, in effect, shown that he should be removed from the Missouri Supreme Court by the voters Nov. 7. (Jefferson City Post Tribune)

Uncle Sam peddles weapons to Kuwait

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — While the State Department preaches peace in the Mideast, our diplomats are hawking military aircraft behind the scenes to the oil-rich little Arab land of Kuwait.

The secret negotiations are summarized in a cable from William Stoltzfus, our ambassador in Kuwait, to Secretary of State William Rogers. The cable, dated Sept. 20 and classified "Secret," describes the ambassador's efforts to persuade Kuwait to buy our warplanes instead of French fighters.

Stoltzfus tells of a visit to Kuwait's defense minister. "(I) saw Shaikh Saad," cables the ambassador, "to again discuss Kuwaiti military aircraft requirements."

He quotes Saad as saying: "Everyone here considers Phantom the best there is, so that is the aircraft they all want." Stoltzfus is aware, however, that the sale of high-performance Phantoms to Kuwait would distress Israel. So he tried to convince Saad to buy F-5's, a sturdy but less sophisticated fighter.

The wily Saad, however, wasn't having any F-5s. He told the U.S. ambassador that "he had opinion of his military men, others in GOK (Government of Kuwait) and parliament to contend with."

Stoltzfus advised Rogers that he has now asked the manufacturers of the F-5s to send him a table of comparisons with the Mirage so he can make a new sales pitch.

"But frankly," the ambassador confided in his secret cable, "I do not expect this comparison in itself to have much impact on Saad considering problems, largely of 'face' and internal politics, which he (Saad) faced."

The ambassador, instead of urging a slowdown in the Mideast arms race, pleaded with Rogers: "At very least we could offer show Kuwaiti team the A-4 (Skyhawk) when they come to us."

At a future date, Stoltzfus advocated that the coveted Phantoms be sold both to Kuwait and Saudi Arabia.

For several months, the United States has been trying to unload military hardware upon the small but wealthy Arab nation. Our diplomats have tried, however, to keep their negotiations secret.

Indeed, Stoltzfus's predecessor, Ambassador John Patrick Walsh, received secret commendations from both the State and Defense departments "for the effective manner in which he has kept U.S. private firms rather than U.S. government in front as Kuwaitis consider various possible military equipment purchases."

In a secret cable to our embassy in Kuwait, Undersecretary of State John Irwin II instructed: "We agree that any of these sales would represent attractive commercial opportunity for American private companies. Government of Kuwait and commercial firms wishing to sell military equipment and services to Kuwait should clearly understand that U.S. would prefer to see any sales handled on cash, progress payment or private credit basis...

"Each type of equipment under discussion — F-5s, Hercules Bell helicopters, Hawk missiles — would appear in itself a reasonable item for Government of Kuwait to acquire.

"Question arises, however, when one looks at the 'total package' Kuwaitis appear to be considering, including 30 F-5s, 16 helicopters and Hawks. Before considering sale of such item, U.S. government would require fairly firm knowledge of near term Government of Kuwait wishes."

Washington suggested that a Defense Department team survey Kuwait's defense needs. But the real question is why the United States is eager to dump so many armaments upon Kuwait, with only 733,000 inhabitants spread over more than 6,000 square miles of oil-rich desert.

Trust in McGovern

Three and one-half years of the Nixon Administration have gone by. Three and one-half years filled with economic exploitation, civilian and political espionage, rascism, cynicism, conspiracy trials, war, and benign neglect. If Mr. Nixon has been able to convince us that war is peace, and poverty is prosperity, then we are truly anesthetized. Any country that takes as little interest in its government as we have, probably deserves Richard Nixon.

Those of us who first became aware of our government under President Kennedy have an empty spot where trust in government used to be. We loved John Kennedy the way our parents loved F.D.R. They believed in people first — not power.

We must decide this November whether we bomb dikes in Vietnam or rebuild dikes in Wilkes-Barre, whether we put drug-addicts in jail, or in hospitals, whether we have tax justice for all or tax loopholes for some.

George McGovern's call to Come Home America is not a call to isolationism. It is a call for America to exert moral leadership in the world, not military aggression. The war is now three and one-half years, 20,000 American deaths, and billions of dollars more dishonorable than when Mr. Nixon took office. In 1968 Richard Nixon said, "Those who have had four years to find peace and fail should be turned out of office." Mr. Nixon's four years are up. We can not trust him again. We must trust McGovern. We cannot allow the involvement of the 60's to become the apathy of the 70's. We deserve better.

It is all so clear. Come home America. The only poll that counts is being held November 7th. Register and vote.

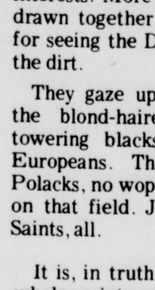
Red China looks to Latins

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA News Analyst

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Reports out of South and Central America indicate the extraordinarily blunt use Mao Tse-tung's men are making of the economic carrot in their political-diplomatic efforts south of the border.



Cromley

The scenario is simple. Mao's men whet the appetite of the businessmen in the country they're wooing with talk of major purchases of minerals, coffee, fish or whatever, count on the hopes of profit to induce these businessmen to work on their governments.

The field is ripe. Latins are weary of their strong dependence on the ups and downs of the U.S. market.

In Peru, China has agreed to buy $100 million worth of minerals over the next three years. Peking is taking copper, lead, zinc — but also fish powder and fish oil.

Peking has shown an interest in Mexican sugar, cotton, coffee, wheat, lead, copper, and cacao. El Salvador has hopes of selling coffee. China has agreed to buy sizable amounts of aluminum ore and sugar from Guyana and hinted to the Bolivian, the Venezuelan and Brazilian merchants of sizable purchases, if ...

Peking has given Peru and Chile sizable interest-free 20-year loans ($42 million in one case and $65 million or so in the other) with no need to make any repayments for roughly a decade. Guyana has been given technical assistance.

An analysis shows that Mao aims at building contacts where he can, and that his efforts are not confined to those governments close to China ideologically.

In fact, where it is to China's interest, Mao apparently has been willing to sacrifice the interests of local Latin Communist parties, even pro-Peking sects, and work with groups antagonistic to Communism.

In this sacrifice of ideology to expediency, the Chinese have adopted the Soviet approach which they profess to despise.

But it is to be noted that they have not been overly successful in developing Chinese-oriented underground Communist groups of influence. Though there are pro-Chinese Communist organizations in Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Mexico and Peru, they are, in almost all cases, extremely small and uninfluential. Except in two countries, they are below the Russian parties in size and importance.

The Peking objectives seem clear as of now — to win votes in the United Nations and backing in this chunk of nations in Peking's struggle with the Soviet Union, in her over-all drive for worldwide influence and in her efforts to undermine U.S. prestige and power.

The indications are that Mao's strategists have decided the United States can be most effectively attacked or undermined through political-diplomatic-economic infiltration of its underdeveloped neighbors.

This is in line with the approach Lin Piao publicly favored with such strength. Lin said the "cities" (developed nations such as the United States) must be attacked through the "rural areas" (underdeveloped nations in his terminology). Though Lin has been discredited, it is obvious that his strategy has not.

Louis Harris Survey

McGovern Confidence Questioned

By LOUIS HARRIS

The heart of Sen. George McGovern's bid for the White House in the next five weeks rests on the proposition of whether he can turn around the 55-28 per cent majority view that "he doesn't inspire confidence as a President should."

There are some signs that the Democratic nominee's almost four-month long slide in the polls may have ended. (He gained six points in the Harris Survey reported last week.) But to come close to winning on Nov. 7 McGovern clearly must find a way to build the faith of voters in him personally.

Here are some of the key dimensions pointing up McGovern's problems drawn from a Harris Survey taken among 1,668 likely voters between Sept. 19-21.

✔ By 59-22 per cent, a sizable majority of the voters agree with the charge against the South Dakota Senator that "he seems to be making too many mistakes that raise doubts about his judgment." This did not shift much during his first three weeks of campaigning in September, since voters agreed with the same statement by 60-24 per cent at the beginning of the month.

✔ A cloud still hangs over Sen. McGovern as a result of the Eagleton affair. When asked to comment on the statement that "he handled the dropping of Sen. Eagleton as his vice presidential running mate with good judgment and good taste," voters express disagreement by 48-32 per cent.

✔ Buttressing this reaction is the 52-30 per cent who agree that Sen. McGovern "seems indecisive and unable to make up his mind."

✔ As Sen. McGovern has mounted stronger attacks on President Nixon, reaction of voters to the Senator personally has grown more unfavorable. On the key dimension of having a "sincere, appealing personality," back in May when he was making his dramatic rise to capture the Democratic nomination, voters reacted positively to the McGovern personality, 46-26 per cent. This slipped to 42-34 per cent positive after the debates with Sen. Humphrey in the California primary, then held at a narrow 43-39 per cent positive after the Eagleton episode. But by early September, as McGovern attacks on his GOP opponents mounted, reaction to the Senator reversed to 48-37 per cent negative. In late September, this negative set still held at 46-36.

✔ As a consequence of these feelings about McGovern's being "mistake-prone," "lacking in good judgment," and not appealing as a "sincere personality," a majority of the voters, 51-32 per cent, agree with the statement that "he just leaves me flat and seems incapable of inspiring the best in America."

The net impact of this failure of Sen. McGovern to engender a sense of personal confidence has been the single most important reason for his running so far behind President Nixon in the early polls. To measure the full degree of doubts voters have expressed about the Senator, the Harris Survey has periodically asked: "Do you tend to agree or disagree that Sen. McGovern does not inspire confidence as a President should?"

Trend on Confidence in McGovern

	Not Inspire Confidence	Does Inspire	Not Sure
	%	%	%
Mid-Sept.	55	28	17
Early Sept.	58	29	13
Aug.	47	37	16
July	44	35	21
June	39	38	23
May	33	36	31

Precisely the same question has been asked about Richard Nixon since August of 1971. Here is the trend on the same question:

Trend on Confidence in Nixon

	Not Inspire Confidence	Does Inspire	Not Sure
	%	%	%
Sept., '72	33	59	8
July	40	53	7
April	49	40	11
Feb.	49	40	11
Aug., '71	50	40	10

There is little doubt that the disparity between President Nixon and Sen. McGovern on this key dimension of confidence was an important input into the 28-point lead enjoyed by Nixon in mid-September in preferential tests.

The next five weeks will see both sides, in personal appearances and in the media, trying to build the credibility of their man and to dent the reservoir of trust of the opposition candidate.

Despite the problems Nixon has had in the past in his ability to arouse personal confidence and those Sen. McGovern has had in the more recent past, both men are viewed as having a rather high sense of personal integrity: Sen. McGovern by a 44-27 per cent margin and President Nixon by 76-13 per cent.

The central issue of confidence is not likely to be resolved either on the matter of integrity or personal charisma. Neither man in 1972 is viewed by voters as a magnetic personality. Rather, the focus will come down hard on voter confidence in each's ability to lead the country. And, on this score, Senator McGovern has much ground to make up in the remaining weeks.

Landing Gear Failed

A United Airlines 727 rests off the runway in San Francisco after a landing gear collapsed as the plane, with 99 persons aboard, touched down Sunday. Six passengers were slightly injured. The plane sheared off the roof of a Visual Omnirange Navigational facility which is fully automatic and was vacant at the time. (UPI)

Cosmonaut Reveals Adventure Details

MOSCOW (AP) — A veteran Russian cosmonaut discloses that the first Soviet-American manned space venture will last three days and include a 48-hour linkup of the spaceships and an exchange of crews.

If it is successful it could be the forerunner of a joint U.S.-Soviet expedition to the planet Mars by the end of the century, Vladimir Shatalov, commander of two Soviet manned flights said.

Shatalov, 45, disclosed in a report released Sunday by Tass, the Soviet news agency, that plans for the first joint manned space effort call for an American Apollo spacecraft with three astronauts and a Russian Soyuz capsule with two crew members to be linked as a "single spacecraft" for two days while the spacemen perform joint scientific experiments.

Shatalov did not give the launch date. But his information was the most complete made public to date here on the planned space spectacular and indicated a definite flight plan and schedule had been worked out.

Although points of common design on the two spaceships had been resolved, it was still necessary "to study how expedient" the decisions were, he said.

Space officials and technical experts from both countries have been meeting for nearly two years to map out the historic adventure.

Members of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, NASA, and the Soviet Academy of Sciences were believed to have given the green light on the joint flight earlier this year. Shatalov's disclosures apparently meant both teams were well advanced on the subsequent planning stage.

"A Soyuz spaceship manned by two cosmonauts will first be launched," he said. "In seven and a half hours, an Apollo spacecraft, manned by three astronauts, will be launched from Cape Kennedy.

"Twenty-four hours later, the Apollo will approach the Soyuz ship and a linkup will be performed. The system formed by the linkup will then be operated as a single spacecraft.

"For two days, spacemen will transfer from one ship to the other," Shatalov continued. "Scientific and technical experiments will be made and there will be television transmissions to earth.

"At the end of the third day, the spaceships will be undocked and will proceed to land on their respective territories."

The two spaceships will be fitted with compatible lighting and communications systems for the rendezvous and docking.

The tricky docking procedure has been the principal obstacle in planning the joint flight.

Walkathon In Memory Of Youth

KANSAS CITY (AP) — About 150 young persons walked 10 miles Sunday to honor Tammie K. Veith, 13, who died of bone cancer two weeks ago and to raise money to pay for her funeral and medical expenses.

Tammie was the daughter of Mrs. Bettye J. Vieth of Kansas City. Her death Sept. 20 placed a financial burden on her mother.

Dawn Miller, 17, of suburban Raytown, Mo., conceived the "walkathon" as a service project of Kansas City Assembly No. 7 of the Order of Rainbow for Girls.

Dawn and Tammie became friends as members of the order and after Tammie's death, Dawn found other members eager to honor the girl and help out her family. Tammie's fellow junior high school students also pitched in.

Most of the marchers found sponsors who would pay from five cents to $2 for each mile covered. Many of the walkers had never met Tammie but had heard of her and participated in the walk as a tribute.

Mrs. Veith said her daughter learned she had bone cancer in July 1971 when she broke her arm and an operation showed a malignant cyst. The arm was amputated but that did not stop the disease.

Meanwhile, Tammie, who had won three presidential physical fitness awards, continued her studies and participated in a bowling league. She entered the hospital Sept. 13 and died a week later.

"I feel honored to be her mother," Mrs. Veith said. "We can use the money because I'm not employed and we were without hospitalization insurance."

The hikers, accompanied by two volunteer motorcycle policemen as escorts, took about three and a half hours to travel the 10 miles from Raytown to Tammie's junior high school.

"It was a great success," Dawn said. "Only two people dropped out, and that was in the first two miles.

"I'm sure the total amount pledged will be in the hundreds of dollars. We won't know until we add up the figures Tuesday night."

Men Are Rescued From Mississippi

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Three men were rescued from the Mississippi River Sunday when their 16-foot outboard motorboat capsized in the wake of a barge near Eads Bridge.

The U.S. Coast Guard identified the men as Raymond Skaggs, 26, Foley, Mo., Eugene Bray, 23, West Plains, Mo., and Ray Brown, 25, St. Louis. Skaggs was owner of the boat. All three refused medical treatment.

The men were picked up soon after the accident by a private small craft.

The boat drifted to a dock south of the MacArthur Bridge, where it was righted and pumped out by a Coast Guard vessel.

College Housing Unique

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — The housing shortage at the University of North Carolina has driven many students "up the wall." It's driven Chip Hope up a tree.

Hope, 21, arrived at school this term for his junior year and decided that doubling up in a single room wasn't for him. He found a place to lay his head midway up a 40-foot pecan tree in a grove about five minutes from the campus.

Chip's $20 home is a six-foot square wooden platform. It has a green tarp that keeps out some of the rain and a rope ladder, but no walls or electricity. "This is not the place for someone who tosses and turns in his sleep," he says.

He calls his abode "Antler Lodge," after a society he belonged to while in high school. It's equipped with a blue reading pillow, a goosedown sleeping bag, some foam rubber pads, a candle and an alarm clock. Some friendly neighbors let him use their bathroom in a nearby house.

The Charlotte, N.C., native says there were really three reasons for his decision to live in a tree. It was hard to find other accommodations in the crowded university community; those that were available were expensive; and he likes treehouses. "I must have built six of them when I was a kid," he said.

His leafy bower, he says, has some advantages. It's cool on hot, humid days, and it's a good place to study.

Entertaining is a bit more difficult.

"I had seven people up here for a party," he said. "And some were kind of hanging on the edges, and some were worried about whether the platform would hold together."

When the weather turns cooler, Hope says, he will look for more conventional quarters — but nothing elaborate. "I can live in places where other people couldn't store a suitcase," he said.

California Riddle Is Again Apparent

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California, as so often in politics, is an apparent enigma in the 1972 presidential contest.

Sen. George McGovern is holding his own in public opinion polls released so far in the state, in contrast to the massive lead President Nixon enjoys in the national polls.

While Nixon holds more than 20-point margins over McGovern in national opinion polls, he was only eight points ahead in the independent California Poll taken in late August — 49 per cent to 41 per cent. It was taken, however, before McGovern dropped Missouri Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton from the ticket. The next California Poll is due out in mid-October.

A McGovern-sponsored poll released by Dorothy D. Corey Research this past week showed Nixon with a 43 per cent to 37 per cent lead.

Political observers are puzzled by the disparity between the Nixon lead nationally and in California. One says: "Things couldn't be that different out here."

California is a crucial battleground and both candidates made their first major campaign thrusts here last week.

McGovern says he must win the state and its 45 electoral votes — the largest bloc in the nation — if Democrats are to have a chance to capture the White House.

And it is Nixon's home state, where he barely edged John F. Kennedy in 1960 and Hubert H. Humphrey in 1968.

"I want very much to win this election," Nixon said while campaigning in Los Angeles Wednesday. "I want very much to carry California."

Mrs. Carmen Warschaw of Los Angeles, a veteran of California Democratic politics, says, "I think McGovern has a chance to win California. But it's a silent kind of thing. People in California don't like to vote for Nixon especially."

She thinks McGovern has as tough a fight in California as Humphrey did at this point four years ago. The Minnesota senator finished strong but fell 230,000 votes short of carrying California out of more than seven million votes cast.

Lyn Nofziger, Nixon's statewide campaign director, often has said he expects a close race. Referring to the Corey poll, he said, "I'll take a 6 per cent victory and think it's great."

KU Med Center Awarded Grant

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — A $130,000 student loan grant has been awarded to the University of Kansas Medical Center by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation of Princeton, N.J.

The grant is for women, minority and rural area students.

Dr. William O. Rieke, chief administrator of the Med Center, said the program is designed to help students in medical and osteopathic schools who are likely to practice in medically undeserved areas.

Ending Tolls On The Paseo

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "This is the only toll I've ever stolen," says Fritze Schumacher, manager of the Paseo Bridge, of the dime given him by Mayor Charles B. Wheeler Jr. for the final toll in the bridge's 18 years.

The coin was the last of an estimated $20 million paid by drivers who made more than 180 million trips across the bridge that spans the Missouri River in Kansas City. It will become a momento of the closing.

Schumacher said the exact amount of tolls taken in since the bridge opened in 1954 would be figured later this week.

It was a celebration at the closing at midnight Saturday as cheering toll collectors waved on honking motorists. The Missouri Highway Department erected signs above the booths saying, "It's free."

After the booths are taken down by Nov. 1, traffic will move over the four-lane span freely until next spring when a 16-month construction period to redeck, widen and modify exists and approaches begins.

Dawson Decked

Denver linemen Paul Smith (70) and Tom Graham (83) converge on Kansas City Chiefs' quarterback Len Dawson (16) and throw him for a six-yard loss in the second quarter of Sunday's National Football League game in Denver. After battling to a 10-10 halftime tie, the Chiefs rallied behind second-string quarterback Mike Livingston for a 45-24 victory. Livingston threw three touchdown strikes after taking over for Dawson at the outset of the second half. (UPI)

K.C. Sparked By Livingston

DENVER (AP) — A surprise play that didn't work and a desperation run by a substitute quarterback made the difference in Kansas City's 45-24 National Football League victory over Denver Sunday.

The victory moved the Chiefs into sole possession of first place in the American Conference's West Division.

Denver, which dominated the first quarter, tried to fake punt early in the second quarter. The play had helped John Ralston's Stanford team beat Michigan in last year's Rose Bowl, but it played a different role Sunday.

On fourth down at the Denver 42, Bobby Anderson, the Broncos' reserve punter, faked a punt and threw to Joe Dawkins, who had broken behind the Chiefs' line.

Linebacker Clyde Werner got a hand on the pass, however, and deflected it. That gave the Chiefs the ball and they scored three plays later to take a 10-7 lead.

"It could have been a big play for them," Kansas City Coach Hank Stram admitted.

"But it turned out to be a super play for us." Stram praised Werner and said it probably was the biggest play of the game.

Ralston, in his first season as Denver coach, said the play was executed properly except that the ball was snapped too soon. "Everything else worked fine, but Werner was just getting into his stance and he was able to deflect it," Ralston said. "Otherwise, Dawkins would have had it and gone."

The Broncos tied it 10-10 late in the period on a Jim Turner field goal, but they hadn't counted on Mike Livingston's heroics in the second half.

Livingston started the second half in place of Len Dawson, who reinjured some ribs.

"I don't think Lenny's injury is serious," Stram said in the dressing room. "Taking him out was more of a precaution than anything else."

The five-year pro out of SMU quickly got the Chiefs on the board with the first of three touchdown passes. Denver countered with a score of its own late in the third quarter on Anderson's 15-yard run.

But that's when Livingston turned the momentum around. Rookie Larry Marshall returned the ensuing kickoff to the KC 40. On the next play, Livingston dropped back to pass but was rushed and forced out of the pocket. So he ran, and wasn't stopped until he had covered 51 yards and reached the Bronco nine. He passed to Dennis Homan on the following play for the go-ahead touchdown.

"We had him trapped back there," Ralston sighed. "You wouldn't think he could scramble for 51 yards. That play was the big factor in the game."

Chiefs' safety Jim Kearney returned two interceptions for scores in the fourth quarter and Denver never got back in the game.

Just One of Many

Pats Upset Redskins, 24-23

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I don't like these endings," young Jim Plunkett said. "Between this week and last week, I'm getting gray hairs."

Last week, it was a missed 10-yard field goal in the final minute that gave New England a 21-20 victory over Atlanta.

That, however, was nothing compared to what happened Sunday in Foxboro, Mass.

The 24-year old quarterback put New England ahead with a remarkable scrambling bullseye touchdown pass, then had to wait out four of the most frantic minutes in National Football League history before his Patriots pulled out a 24-23 squeaker over the Washington Redskins.

In Sunday's other games, the Houston Oilers stunned the New York Jets 26-20, the Miami Dolphins nosed out the Minnesota Vikings 16-14, the Green Bay Packers edged the Dallas Cowboys 16-13, the Baltimore Colts blanked the Buffalo Bills 17-0, the Detroit Lions beat the Chicago Bears 38-24, the Kansas City Chiefs overwhelmed the Denver Broncos 45-24, the Atlanta Falcons slammed the Los Angeles Rams 31-3, the Pittsburgh Steelers defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 25-19, the San Francisco 49ers walloped the New Orleans Saints 37-2, the Cleveland Browns bounced the Cincinnati Bengals 27-6 and the Oakland Raiders and San Diego Chargers struggled to a 17-17 tie.

With Washington leading 21-17 midway in the fourth quarter, Plunkett drove the Patriots from their own 20-yard line to the Redskins' 24. Then he faded back to pass—only to find the Redskins swarming in on him.

He took off to the right, with several would-be tacklers in hot pursuit, then fired to rookie Josh Ashton on the goal line to put the Patriots on top 24-21.

But the Redskins were far from finished. They moved to the New England 25 and, with less than two minutes to go, Curt Knight kicked a game-tying 33-yard field goal.

But hold on. The Patriots, it seems, were guilty of roughing the kicker. That gave Washington Coach George Allen several options. He could refuse the penalty and keep the field goal or forget the three points and take a first down instead.

"What the heck," he said later. "Any time you have a chance to win a game . . ." So the 'Skins took the first down.

But three downs netted only one yard and Knight returned to boot a 27-yarder—which sailed wide to the right. The Patriots still led. All they had to do was run out the clock. With Washington calling time out after every play, though, they couldn't, and were forced to punt.

Bill Malinchak, however, blew in and blocked the kick, then pounced on it in the end zone. Touchdown? Wrong. Safety—just two points instead of six. So the Patriots still led, 24-23.

After a free kick, the 'Skins got the ball once more and moved to New England's 42. But with 12 seconds to go, Knight's last-gasp 50-yarder also sailed wide—and the Patriots finally had the victory.

Dan Pastorini directed Houston to a pair of touchdowns—one a Willie Rodgers one-yard plunge, the other a 52-yard Ken Burrough pass reception—for a 14-13 halftime lead.

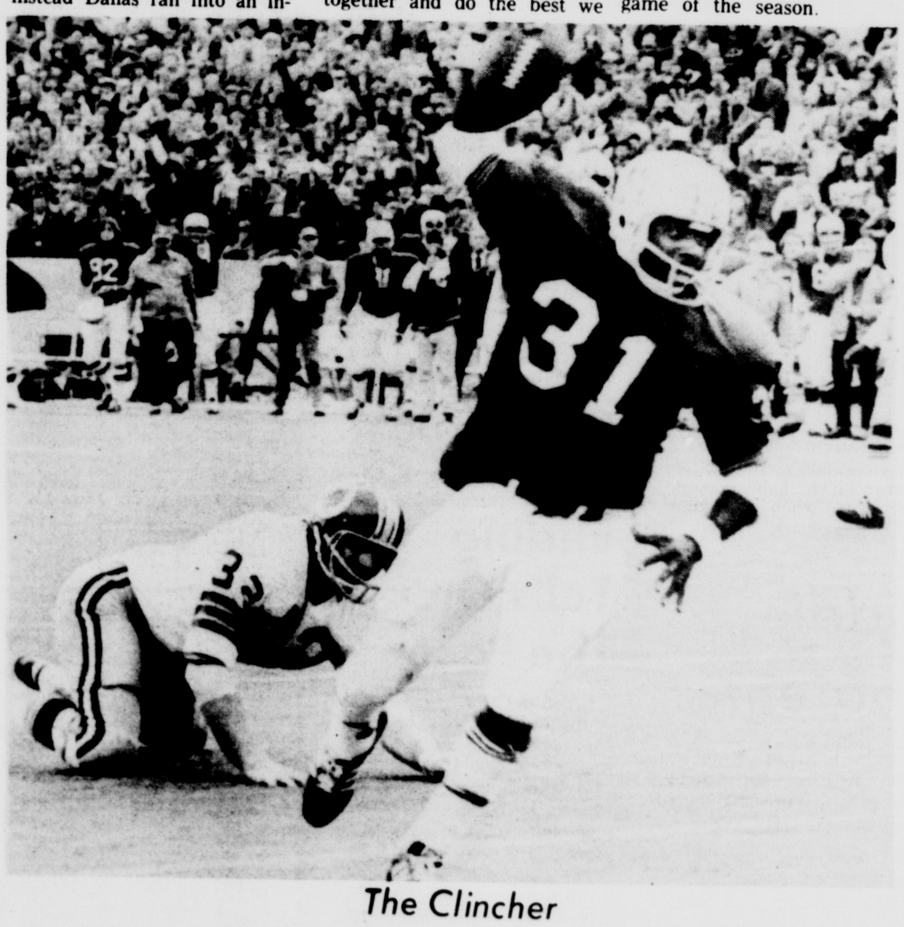
Then the Jets gave up two fumbles and an intercepted Joe Namath pass to help set up three of Skip Butler's four field goals.

"I'd like to get the reputation that we are a come-from-behind team," Coach Don Shula said after his Dolphins did just that to remain the NFL's only undefeated team.

Trailing the Vikings 14-6, Miami got three points on Garo Yepremian's booming 51-yard field goal with 4:15 to play, then mounted a 59-yard drive climaxed by Bob Griese's three-yard touchdown toss to a wide open Jim Mandich with just 88 seconds left.

The defending Super Bowl champion Cowboys figured to take advantage of an injury-thinned Green Bay squad. But instead Dallas ran into an inspired defense that forced five turnovers and sacked quarterback Craig Morton four times.

"We're just trying to hang together and do the best we can," Colts Coach Don McCafferty said after Baltimore, blanking Buffalo for the third straight time, won its first game of the season.



The Clincher

New England's Josh Ashton (31) raises the ball in jubilation after scoring what proved to be the winning touchdown on a 24-yard pass from Jim Plunkett with just over four minutes to go in their NFL contest with the Washington Redskins, Sunday in Foxboro, Mass. Redskins' linebacker, left, watches Ashton scamper across the goal line. (UPI)

Bradshaw Bomb Sinks Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Handsome Terry Bradshaw threw the bomb when it was needed and the Pittsburgh Steelers are co-leaders of the American Conference Central in the National Football League.

The 24-year-old Bradshaw, firing mostly short passes, unleashed a 38-yard missile with 1:06 left Sunday to sink the St. Louis Cardinals 25-19.

Only two minutes earlier victory had seemed lost to the Steelers when Norm Thompson, a second-season Cards cornerback, burst through to block a punt and put St. Louis ahead 19-18.

But Bradshaw, deviating some from Coach Chuck Noll's instructions, steered the Steelers back 80 yards in eight plays and zeroed in on wide receiver Frank Lewis for the payoff.

"I wanted a touchdown on the last drive," confided Bradshaw, "but Chuck said 'Make darn sure you get the field goal.'

"I was zipping the ball earlier and tossed this one up for Lewis. I should have done it earlier."

Pittsburgh, a leader by as much as 15-3 in the second quarter, lost its upper hand when Dale Hackbart intercepted a Bradshaw pass and returned 21 yards to the Steeler 48 in the third quarter.

Donny Anderson cruised around the left side on a eight-yard touchdown run that reduced the lead to 15-12 for St. Louis, but Roy Gerela's third field goal established an 18-12 Pittsburgh cushion.

That seemed secure until Thompson, reactivated only three days earlier, blocked Bobby Walden's punt from the Steeler 25 and ambled to the end zone with 3:03 left.

"We wanted a score—any kind of score—regardless of whether it was a touchdown or a field goal," said Noll, somewhat amending the instructions Bradshaw said he'd received.

Describing the route Lewis took, Noll noted, "We call it a takeoff. The Cardinals were rotating their zones and we tried to hit between them. Terry did."

The redoubtable Bradshaw, who scored the Steelers' other touchdown on a one-yard plunge, expressed surprise at his 25-for-40 passing netting 229 yards.

His misses included one on fourth down enabling the Cards' Jim Bakken to kick a 44-yard field goal on the final play of the first half.

Noll took responsibility, noting wide receiver had muffed a catch the play earlier for what would have been a touchdown and adding, "I thought it might work the next time."

"It looked to me like it was going to be the key play of the game," Noll shuddered. "I'd never do it again."

Triplett Penalty Shot Lifts Kiwanis

Steve Triplett lifted the Atom B Division Kiwanis soccer team to a 1-0 victory Sunday afternoon over Noon Optimist.

Triplett pushed through a second-half penalty shot, that gave Kiwanis their fourth win of the season.

Steve Hannan of Wilmington, Del., captains Army's track team.

Jockey Eddie Arcaro won the Delaware Oaks four times at Delaware Park between 1940 and 1955.

Quad Cities Open to Beman

BETTENDORF, Iowa (AP) — Deane Beman, has a love affair going with the state of Iowa.

"If they have a golf tournament in this state, you can count on me being there," the fairway strategist said Sunday after winning his second consecutive Quad Cities Open championship.

The victory, the fourth of his pro career, kept intact Beman's record of never losing in the state.

In addition to the Quad Cities titles, he also won the National Amateur championship in Des Moines in 1963.

Beman, a 34-year-old former insurance executive from Bethesda, Md., came from four strokes off the pace with a last round 67 for a 72-hole 279, five under par.

"When I started out, I figured it would take seven under to win it," he said, "then everybody started backing off, so I just played it conservatively over the last four holes."

He parred them all, just good enough to beat fast-closing rookie Tom Watson by one stroke. Watson closed with a 66, five under par on the 6,501-yard Crow Valley Golf Club course and took second alone with 280.

Don Iverson, near the lead through the first three rounds, slipped to a 73 and was alone at 281. Iverson was followed by Lanny Wadkins at 282 and Gibby Gilbert, Doug Olson, Bob Wynn and Grier Jones, who tied at 283.

Beman picked up $20,000 for the triumph, pushing his season's winnings to over $87,000 his career best.

Flat Creek Title Won By Syracuse

Syracuse Baptist locked up first place in the Flat Creek Invitational Softball Tournament in Housel Park with an 8-1 victory over LaMonte, Saturday night.

Earlier in the evening, LaMonte had dropped Syracuse 9-4, which forced a deciding game in the double-elimination tourney.

LaMonte eliminated First Sedalia in Saturday night's opening contest, 13-4. That loss gave First Sedalia third place in the tourney.

Fourth place was won by Calvary.

AL East Title Hangs in Balance

Tigers, Bosox Meet in Deciding Series

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Here is a tip of the hat to the little old American League schedule maker. He didn't know it last winter when he drew up the AL calender, but he has created one dandy wrap-up to the 1972 regular season.

The East division race—5½ months and some 150 games after it started—has come down to the final three games of the baseball season. The contenders are Boston and Detroit and the battle will be settled as it should be—head to head.

The Red Sox are in Detroit for the start of a three-game series tonight. The team that wins two of those games will advance to the AL playoffs to face the Oakland A's.

Boston's first-place edge was trimmed to one-half game Sunday when the Red Sox dropped a 2-1 decision to Baltimore while Detroit was whipping Milwaukee 5-1.

In other American League action Sunday, Oakland trimmed Kansas City 4-2, Texas shut out Chicago 1-0, Cleveland swept a double-header with New York, winning the first game 2-1 and taking the second 4-3, and Minnesota edged California 3-2.

In the National League, New York rapped Pittsburgh 7-3, Chicago shut out St. Louis 3-0, Montreal routed Philadelphia 10-6, Cincinnati blanked Los Angeles 1-0, San Diego trimmed Houston 3-1 and San Francisco whipped Atlanta 6-2.

Boston nominated left-hander John Curtis for tonight's opener with Detroit ace Mickey Lolich opposing him. After that, it will be Luis Tiant Tuesday and Marty Pattin Wednesday for the Red Sox with the Tigers using Woody Fryman against Tiant and Joe Coleman on the last day.

The Sox had hoped to take the 1½ games lead they held most of last week into the final series. That would have meant that one victory at Detroit would clinch the flag for them. But Baltimore's crafty Mike Cuellar was having none of that. He scattered eight hits and Bobby Grich's sixth-inning homer gave the Orioles the victory.

On the scoreboard, the Sox watched Detroit's John Hiller mow down Milwaukee on five hits for his first victory in exactly two years. Hiller, out of baseball because of a heart attack last year, had last won a game on Oct. 1, 1970.

Aurelio Rodriguez cracked a three-run homer and Dick McAuliffe and Al Kaline added solo shots to account for the Tiger runs.

Texas ended its 15-game losing streak with Dick Bosman throttling Chicago on three hits and blanking the White Sox. Bosman struck out 13 batters and the Rangers scored the game's only run in the first inning when Dave Nelson walked, stole second, moved to third on a fly ball and scored on Ted Ford's single.

Oakland's West Division champions whipped Kansas City with Gene Tenace pacing the late-inning offense. Tenace singled and came around to score the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning. Then he singled home two more runs for the A's in the ninth.

Gaylord Perry limited New York to four hits and struck out 11 as Cleveland won the first game of its doubleheader with the Yankees.

Chris Chambliss' 11th-inning sacrifice fly scored the deciding run in the opener for the Indians. Then, two errors by Yankee catcher John Ellis helped the Indians to two runs that proved decisive in the sixth inning of the nightcap.

Jim Holt drilled three straight hits and drove in two runs as Minnesota edged California.

Wash., Southern, LU Still Perfect

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Battling Bears of Washington University are off to their fastest start in seven seasons, but the St. Louis club has to share the Missouri small college limelight with at least three other teams.

While Washington was running its record to 3-0 with a 27-8 lashing of Southwestern Tennessee Saturday, Missouri Southern matched its entire 1971 victory output by crushing Missouri-Rolla, 27-8.

Southern is 4-0 under second-year Coach Jim Frazier, who guided the Lions to a 4-6 mark a year ago, their best since they took up a four-year schedule in 1968.

The state's third unbeaten is Lincoln University, where in his 24th year as head coach, Dwight Reed has the Tigers off to a 2-0 start. Lincoln struck in the second half Saturday for a 10-3 conquest of Arkansas Tech at Russellville, Ark.

Lincoln is the only perfect-record member of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association, but Northeast is a step behind at 3-1 after posting its third shutout in four games, a 28-0 triumph over State College of Arkansas.

The only other MIAA winner was Southeast. The Indians started the season 0-2 but climbed back to 1-2-1 Saturday by surprising Evansville, Ind., 37-21.

Northeastern Oklahoma struck late to trip Central, 16-14; Illinois State rocked Southwest, 42-7; Northwest fell 38-0 to Mankato State, Minn., and MU-Rolla was dropped by Southern.

Another independent, Missouri Western lost its fifth game in as many starts, 28-7 to Doane, Neb.

The Golden Griffons now have been outscored, 162-13, in five games.

The state's fourth independent, Culver-Stockton, got in the plus column after three straight losses with a 23-20 decision over Benedictine at Atchison, Kan.

Missouri members of the Heart of America Conference broke even on the first weekend of league play in the eight-team, tri-state HOA.

Defending champion Missouri Valley boosted its season total to 3-1 with a 33-18 triumph over Tarkio, 10-3. William Jewell punished College of Emporia, 43-6, pushing the Cardinal mark to 3-2. Central Methodist was felled by Ottawa, 41-13, and fell to 2-2.

In the fourth HOA contest, Graceland joined Ottawa at 3-0 over-all by blistering Baker, 64-14.

Washington got three touchdown passes from senior quarterback Jeff Daube in scorching Southwestern Tennessee. Ted Poelker snagged two of the TD tosses for 79 and 28 yards, then returned a pass interception 55 yards for another score.

Freshman fullback Lydell Williams, in his first starting assignment for Southern, rushed for 168 yards and three touchdowns, including a 73-yard burst. Junior tailback Terry Starks scored twice for the Lions.

Lincoln snapped a scoreless tie against Arkansas Tech with James Langs' 17-yard touchdown pass to flanker Johnny Daniels capping a 49-yard movement in the third period. Tyrone Allen added a 38-yard field goal early in the fourth stanza.

Northeast drove 87, 58, 70 and 29 yards for its touchdowns against the Conway, Ark., visitors, with Marv Robinson getting the first two scores on runs of 2 and 10 yards.

William Jewell mounted a heady attack sparked by Weader Millentree, Mike Thebeau and Rick Atha. The Cardinals finished a few steps shy of 500 yards total offense as Millentree streaked 72 and 69 yards for scores. Thebeau hooked up with Atha on TD strikes covering 33, 55 and 46 yards.

Southeast notched its first triumph by turning Rick Attick loose in the final quarter. He rushed 1, 5 and 15 yards for final-period touchdowns in turning a 17-14 Indian lead into a runaway.

Tarkio mounted a belated passing attack against Missouri Valley, with Joe Greco firing touchdown passes of 6 and 29 yards to Del Morely and a 23-yard TD payoff to Rich Anderson in the second half. But Jim Roskelley nabbed touchdown passes of 45 and 29 yards from Steve Traxler for the Vikings. Larry Henderson added scoring runs of 11 and 2 yards, and Tony Chandler dashed 76 for the final Valley touchdown.

At Warrensburg, Steve Howard threw two touchdown passes to Ray Bass for Central. But former Kansas State redshirt quarterback Bruce Johnson zipped a 71-yard scoring strike to Terry Phillips in the final quarter to give Northeastern Oklahoma the victory.

Tenace Cut Down at Home

Oakland's Gene Tenace (38) is tagged out at home by Kansas City's Carl Taylor in the third inning of Sunday's game. Tenace attempted to come home on a fly to right field by Campy Campaneris. However, he was cut down by the throw. The A's won the game, 4-2. (UPI)

Upstart Cowboys Eye Bengals for 2nd Win

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The pace in the Gig Eight Conference race gains momentum Saturday when giant killer Oklahoma State, which stunned college football last weekend with an amazing 31-6 victory over third-ranked Colorado, is host to Missouri and the groggy Buffaloes try to recover at Kansas State.

Only one other team, Kansas, will be busy. The Jayhawks journey to Minnesota for a non-conference scrap. Second-ranked Oklahoma, seventh-ranked Nebraska and Iowa State are all idle.

Oklahoma State's victory over the Buffs, 3-1, in the Big Eight's league opener was the biggest upset so far in this campaign and put the Cowboys on top of the conference standings. Five other teams defeated non-conference foes.

Kansas, the only loser, dropped a 44-22 aerial battle to Florida State and is now 1-2.

Oklahoma, 3-0, brushed aside Clemson 52-3. Nebraska, 3-1, ambushed Minnesota 49-0. Iowa State, 3-0, conquered New Mexico 31-0. Missouri, 2-1, surprised California 34-24. Kansas State, 2, ended a two-game losing streak by whipping previously unbeaten Tampa 31-7.

Four players on as many clubs racked up three touchdowns each. Greg Pruitt, the Oklahoma All-American, scored on runs of five, four and one yard. Gary Dixon, Nebraska's I-back, crashed four, two and six yards for tallies.

Junior college transfer Alton Gerard crossed the goal line twice on one-yarders and once on a nine-yard burst for the Cowboys, 2-1, who were quarterbacked by Brent Blackman. Chuck Link pranced 17, four and seven yards for Missouri touchdowns.

Sophomore Mike Strachan of Iowa State and Don Calhoun of Kansas State each made two touchdowns, Strachan on runs of 34 and four yards and Calhoun on one and 64-yarders. Kansas, unable to cope with Gary Huff's four-touchdown aerial barrage in the first half, got its scores from different players, Delvin Williams, Robert Miller and Bruce Adams.

Colorado Coach Eddie Crowder said if the Cowboys play like they did against the Buffs, "they'll contend for the Big Eight. . . ."

"Blackman is as clever and quick as I've ever seen. We were victimized by the same thing that's killing everybody in the country—a full house backfield with good, strong backs.

"Coach Dave Smith told me after the game that the Lord took care of them. I think he's right. OSU is for real."

Smith described the victory as "the biggest win in my coaching career. We've got the winning habit. We're getting better every week."

Coach Chuck Fairbanks of Oklahoma said he thought "our pass protection was the poorest of the season but then Clemson needs to be given credit for a great pass rush. We had some real good plays between the offense and the defense."

While Dixon made three touchdowns for Nebraska, Minnesota Coach Cal Stoll was all aglow over Johnny Rodgers, who scored twice, once on a 64-yard punt return.

"Rodgers is the best running back I've seen as long as I've been alive—and that seems like a hundred and fifty years," said Stoll.

Kansas Coach Don Fambrough described Huff as "one of the finest college quarterbacks I've seen at least as far as the passing game is concerened. I was happy with the way our team came back in the second half."

Titles Go to Richards, Bingaman-Price Teams

The teans of Loy and Mike Richards, and Vern Bingaman and Tom Price captured the senior and junior division titles of the Walnut Hills Country Club's Father-Son Tournament, Sunday.

The Richards duo scored a one-stroke victory over Elmer and Rick Myers, by carding a 78 in the 10th grade and above, senior division.

Third place was captured by Sylvan and Bill Woolery, who posted a playoff victory over Lloyd and Greg Banaka. Both teams ended regulation play with 82's.

Third was won by Dutch and Mark Deininger, who combined for an 82.

Sedalians Take All Three Classes

Joe Yeager won the 250cc-open division; Bob Gardner placed first in the 125cc division, while first place in the 100cc class went to Kim Yarboro.

Another motocross is scheduled later this month, however, a definite date has not been set.

Opening lead—♠ K

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "Here is a rather simple hand from Eric Jennersten's book. South finds himself in a reasonable five-club contract."

Jim: "The setup appears to be such that South will have to lay down his ace of clubs and pick up West's singleton king to make his contract. All else being equal, this represents a 13 per cent chance against a 50 per cent chance if the finesse is taken. But all else isn't equal."

Oswald: "No, indeed. East has passed his partner's opening spade bid and isn't going to have many high cards."

Jim: "South should look carefully at West's king of spades lead. If West also held the ace and king of hearts he would undoubtedly have preferred that lead to the spade. Hence, East is marked with either the ace or king of hearts."

Oswald: "It is most unlikely that East would pass with two kings in his hand. Thus, the second step in reasoning from the bidding is that East just can't have the king of clubs."

Jim: "This brings us to the ace of clubs play. West has the king. Our only chance to make the hand is to drop it."

Oswald: "South still needs a diamond finesse but that is surely going to work and is just routine."

Survival Capabilities of North Vietnamese Awe AP's Correspondent

Editors Note: AP Special Correspondent Peter Arnett, the winner of a Pulitzer Prize in eight years of war reporting from South Vietnam, has just completed his first visit to North Vietnam. In the following story he describes the "ant power" of the North Vietnamese war effort and the wonder of a visitor, wonder not at the destruction of U.S. bombing but at the survival power of the North Vietnamese.

By PETER ARNETT
AP Special Correspondent

If you have wondered why the North Vietnamese can continue to fight on despite the biggest bombing campaign in the history of war, then ride with three U.S. pilots and me down the roads south of Hanoi and find out.

Our destination was Nam Dinh City and the Phat Diem Cathedral, both severely bombed, and showplaces of the destructive power of the American air campaign. Jane Fonda and Ramsey Clark had been there. Now it was the turn of the three pilots just released from a prisoner-of-war camp — Navy Lts. Mark Gartley and Norris Charles, and Air Force Major Edward Elias — and myself.

But long before we reached our destination we were shaking our heads in wonder, not at the destructive power of the bombs from the sky but at the survival power of the people on the ground.

The pilots' previous view of North Vietnam was from the skies above. For years I had watched from the vantage point of South Vietnam.

Now here on the ground as we rolled along the narrow highways in the dark hours before dawn, the cliches came true.

Here was the "ant power" that Pentagon experts theorized lay behind Hanoi's ability to keep supplies and men moving to the southern war fronts. Where bombs had scored direct hits on railway cars on the tracks parallelling the road, dark shapes hammered at twisted wreckage, while other figures carried material and dumped it into the craters. As dawn came and we passed through the railroad junction of severely bombed Phu Le, we saw that the dark shapes were women and they weren't even using buckets; they were carrying mud in their bare hands to fill the craters in, and they seemed to be enjoying it.

This "ant power" was everywhere. Whereas in South Vietnam the war has denuded the countryside of population and sent people scurrying into the cities, in the North it is the reverse, and they swarmed on the highway.

Walking or riding bicycles along lonely road's in South Vietnam at night can mean death or capture. But in the North, nighttime is the logical time to travel for the faint-hearted, or for the supply convoys, because it affords protection from the planes that fly above.

The key to the use of the night is simply that there are no guerrillas to harrass the convoys or blow up the supplies. In North Vietnam the war is only from the air.

That is why I observed no barbed wire anywhere, no barricaded militia outposts or fortified bunkers. Except for when the planes came over, the North Vietnamese countryside looked positively bucolic. But few things are ever what they seem, and Elias, who piloted a reconnaissance plane before he was shot down five months ago, enlightened me.

"See those grave mounds?" Elias asked as we waited under the trees for a ferry to cross a river where a bridge had been destroyed. About 100 yards away, buffalo grazed quietly around the heaps of earth.

"They're antiaircraft pits with the muzzles down," Elias said. "Let a plane come over and they'll stick up their snoots and blast away. And those things are difficult to spot in pictures. It would take a very expert and very lucky PI (photo interpreter) to see them."

The discovery of the flak sites and the industrious people were possibly predictable enough. Enough American planes get shot down each week to adequately suggest the extent of the antiaircraft fire. And "people power" has long been known as North Vietnam's most important commodity.

What was mindbending to the freed pilots was the extent of North Vietnam's visible supply chain. From the time we left the outskirts of Hanoi at 4 a.m. one morning to our return at 8 p.m. the next night we constantly encountered vehicle convoys, rows of stacked ammunition alongside the roadsides and gasoline drums. These were stretched out along the 180 miles we drove, and other foreign visitors in Hanoi at the time attested they saw similar scenes on different roads.

During daylight the vehicles were casually parked under the inevitable line of trees at roadside. On some long, straight stretches of highway we counted as many as 40 trucks.

They seemed extremely vulnerable, but Charles commented, "We could never see those things from the air. And the moment someone comes down to get a better look at them—blam, man."

This simple roadside cover hid ammunition caches up to 1,000 cases in size, according to my fast counts from the moving automobile. Particularly noticeable were concentrations of supplies at bombed-out railway crossings.

In the evenings as the trucks began to move south loaded with supplies, the whole operation reminded me of a huge glacier forcing itself slowly but surely down a mountain valley.

Reflecting on the scenes one evening at a rest house in Ninh Binh province, Gartley said, "I used to fly over this place and it seemed uninhabited. But look, it is teeming with life."

Gartley later said, "All the pilots really have for targets are the cities, the bridges and the railways. Yet the North Vietnamese move out from the cities and use these back roads."

Elias said, "It is technology against ideology. I just wonder how far technology can go because the Vietnamese habitually beat it." He mentioned that Hanoi has found a partial answer to the threat of the laser-guided "smart" bombs that can zero in accurately on targets.

"The North Vietnamese put up smoke around the target. If you don't see it you can't hit it," Elias said.

"You have to fight this war with intelligence, not with computers," Prime Minister Pham Van Dong told the antiwar activists who went to Hanoi to pick up the released pilots. "The computers merely multiply man's stupidities thousands of times," he said, rocking forward in his chair with a knowing smile.

I was wondering how a computer could determine the number of handfuls of mud required to fill a bomb crater, or the manpower needed to load and unload supplies that are leapfrogged from train to train across the bombed out portions of track each night on the way south.

But all those bombs raining on North Vietnam are dropping somewhere, and in interviews with top officials I got the impression that severe damage is being done.

"Whole cities have been destroyed. Hospitals, schools, churches have been destroyed. There have been so many victims," said Premier Dong, when the antiwar activists asked if the American people could help contribute to reconstruction.

"I fear that no city will be left intact in the North if President Nixon is re-elected. Mr. Nixon's war is ten times more barbarous that his predecessor's," the editor said.

But as our old sedan bucked and rocked across filled-in bomb craters and careened by the ammunition boxes stacked like cordwood along the roadside, I got the feeling that the world of the cities and the world of the countryside supply routes were separate.

We were given no information about where these supplies originated, but we presumed they came down the highways from China to the north. I got the impression that as long as those supplies were pumped down through the arteries of North Vietnam the war would go on even if the cities were destroyed.

And the North Vietnamese can rationalize anything. Standing on one of the broad, tree-line thoroughfares in the Hanoi that the French took so much pride in building, one of my guide-interpreters commented, "This is just a remnant of colonialism, anyway. If it is destroyed we will build a new, better city. Our city."

Public Learns From Decorated Rooms

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Viewers should be able to learn something from designer-decorated rooms in a new 42-story cooperative house in New York City that is open to the public for a fee. Decorated by 17 well-known members of the American Institute of Interior Designers, it has structural ideas that should appeal to do-it-yourselfers and hundreds of decorating ideas that can be modified or expanded to one's own interior design perspective. The apartments are in a luxury bracket, prestigious residential area.

One contemporay sitting room is so exhilarating, it fairly sings. Designed by James P. Tillis, it resembles an abstract painting with its orange, white and black fabric swirling up upholstered lounges, sofas and chairs. Mirrors and a polished steel table increase the shimmer and bounce that is tamed a little by an Edward Fields rug in a geometrical pattern.

The foyer of the apartment has a large painted graphic circle of black and orange on the white floor with a round glass-topped table resting on it.

A sight and sound room by Vladimir Kagan in earth browns, beige, apricot and mauve might be called a gathering room. The 12 by 16 foot room seats 12 people comfortably on five levels. Although the room is furnished in contemporary style, there is a medieval feeling to it. Designed for writing, reading, listening and hovering, the room has a movie screen that drops down in front of the window blinds to accommodate a closet-focused projector. There are zig-zag bookshelf arrangements for various size books and a handsome table, a block carved to reveal different inlaid woods at different levels with a top designed to be used for chess and other games.

David Barrett's back-to-nature bedroom has a canopy bed with tendrilled metal flowers climbing up its white-painted posters. Walls are dark blue lattice over white, and the treillage is carried through the halls. A small white bathroom picks up the blue and white motif in a handsome tailored wallpaper. Bleached white floors are hand-stencilled in flowers. Ditto narrow-slat window blinds.

One living room provided an enormous feeling of solitude in its hushed atmosphere. In tones of deep grays, it had floor-to-ceiling louver-shuttered walls, long grey-painted metal cylinders from the ceiling projecting light, among other innovations. Many decorators close off windows in cities where views on lower floors may overlook bleak courtyards or other uninspiring views, and this room showed the advantages of shutting out distractions.

Other ideas included these:

A child's bedroom: A false wall had two large portholes at the window area. Other walls were curved at ceiling and bottom and tree-painted in a variety of soft shades. Light showed above and below slim shadow boxes that lined the walls like soffits.

Indoor Garden: One end of a bedroom was partially framed on either side to provide a line of demarcation for plants. Two mirrors on either side of the window wall could be seen through the framing, giving a feeling of depth.

Ceiling Note: One room had an entire ceiling of tiles reproduced from the original old 19th century molds in acrylic to resemble the original plaster.

The family that plays together: A sofa done in patchwork style—each cushion, backrest and base section done in different brown and white fabric patterns could be a great decorating boon to the hard-living family with children and animals. Recover the damaged cushion and you can still be in style. The sofa was set against paisley wallpaper.

Large cube end tables: A good item for the do-it-yourselfer, these large cubes are becoming increasingly popular as end tables. The center core is covered with treated glass through which a light shines.

Big Loss Expectable In A & P's Statement

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. released its quarterly statement a few days ago. While the results weren't what a food shopper might have guessed, they were exactly what competitors had forecast: A big loss.

This isn't the only food chain casualty either. The red ink is showing on the hides of a few other retailers also, as they too become caught up in the consumer - business - government battle to restrain rising food prices.

Few shoppers are aware of the vicious price competition that has now enveloped many food retailers and, furthermore, they hardly care except when it means a bargain to them. Most shoppers feel the bargains are too few.

This may be so, but the fact is that most chains now make less than one cent on each dollar of sales, and some earn less than one-half cent. A&P last year made one-quarter cent on each dollar.

The poor showing of A&P didn't develop overnight. For several years it has been caught in a sales-profit bind that it couldn't break. Outdated and poorly situated outlets, combined with hidebound ways, contributed.

The annual reports tell the story. In the fiscal year ended Feb. 28, 1970 the 4,200-store chain reported sales of $5.75 billion. A year later the figure was $90 million lower. And on Feb. 28 this year it fell to $5.51 billion.

Profits went the same way, from $53.3 million in 1970 to $50.1 million in 1971 to $14.6 million this year. Since February it has lost $41.6 million.

Not all chains have had the same poor fortune, and this fact has much to do with the fierce competition. Safeway Stores, Inc. pushed its profits up to $80.2 million in 1971 from $68.9 million a year earlier.

Safeway's sales volume probably is even more significant. In 1970 it reported sales of $4.9 billion. Last year the figure jumped to $5.36 billion. Volume this year is soaring, and Safeway has already made tentative claims to being America's No. 1 food retailer.

Thus goaded nationally and locally, A&P is counter-attacking. While its profits are down, it sales have turned. In the six months through August they rose 12.3 per cent to $3.1 billion, largely because of WEOs.

In May 1971 A&P opened an outlet in Pennshaugen, N.J. that it called a Warehouse Economy Outlet, otherwise known by the acronym WEO. It was designed to sell fast-moving items at a low markup.

The lessons learned there were quickly applied to many other stores. The acronym was borrowed too, although it is now applied to the label "Where Economy Originates." Sometime this year all A&P stores will be WEOs.

In effect, A&P seems to believe it has magically derived wisdom from the absurd — that you can lose on every sale but make it up in volume. It is losing heavily, and doing so with enthusiasm, vigor and an unswerving dedication.

Clearly, it feels that immediate losses will be insignificant in comparison to long-term gains. If stores are made more efficient, if they accommodate critical consumers, if they offer real bargains, then customers should flock back. And they are.

A&P can afford to wage such a battle because, despite its troubles in recent years, its debt structure and cash position are extremely healthy. Quite likely it can absorb losses that would destroy smaller companies.

It is that latter possibility that could spring some repercussions for A&P even before it can completely carry out its plans. Some competitors are all but claiming A&P's practice constitutes unfair, maybe illegal, competition.

One, the Bohack Corp., based in New York, has called the big chain's moves desperate and it placed blame for its own losses on the larger chain's "cut-throat" practices.

Lansky Travel Approved

TEL AVIV (AP) — American underworld figure Mayer Lansky, barred from living in Israel and with his U.S. passport revoked, has received a travel document from the Israeli government to go to any country that will accept him, his lawyer said today.

Attorney Yoram Alro said Lansky received the document last week from the Interior Ministry, which turned down Lansky's application for Israeli citizenship.

Lansky, said the lawyer, has not yet decided when he will leave Israel or where he will go.

Israel's Supreme Court last month ruled that Lansky could not stay in Israel as an immigrant because his criminal past made him a menace to public welfare here. Lansky, facing court indictments in the United States, came here in 1970 and his American passport was later revoked, for return to the United States.

Alro said there were no more legal steps Lansky could take to stay in Israel and "I am at the end of my road" in handling Lansky's case.

Conservationist Wins Canada Geese Battle

UNION, Mo. (AP) — A wildlife biologist with a length of movie film and an assistant prosecuting attorney taking a day off have won a court battle to protect a unique flock of Canada geese in Missouri.

The result was a pair of $250 fines Friday for two men who pleaded guilty to shooting two of the rare birds out of season.

The man with the movie film was Charles W. Schwartz, a Missouri Department of Conservation employe who doesn't carry a badge or a two-way radio because he doesn't want to be a law enforcement officer.

Schwartz, working with his wife, Elizabeth, who holds a Ph.D. in zoology got into the goose hunting incident May 5 while photographing the tiny colony of geese which live all year on the dolomite and limestone bluffs in Warren County southwest of St. Louis.

Schwartz said he and his wife had been working along the bluffs for two days in the first known effort to document the colony's living habits.

"This is really unique for these geese to nest like that," Schwartz explained. "Geese normally nest on the ground in the far north, in the tundra."

Schwartz and his wife had disassembled their equipment for the day when they heard a boat approaching on the river. They turned to watch.

A goose Schwartz had photographed was swimming in the river at the time. "When I saw this boat come up the river, I thought they were going to scare the goose," Schwartz said. "Then I saw the gun come out of the boat. I didn't believe it."

Schwartz said one of the three men in the boat raised a semi-automatic rifle and fired. "They shot one goose and crippled it and then they turned and shot another goose."

Schwartz attached a lens to his movie camera after the first goose was shot and filmed the boat as it turned and made its run toward the other goose.

His film showed the hunter raise his weapon, but Schwartz ran out of film before the shot was fired. Both the geese were left floating on the river and the boat headed upstream.

Schwartz ran a quarter of a mile to a farm house and telephoned conservation agents who arrested the men eight miles away at Hermann.

When Schwartz appeared in magistrate court in Union Friday he had with him a friend, G. Bernard Esser, an assistant prosecuting attorney in Boone County. Esser took one night and two days off his own job and worked as a volunteer to help prepare the case.

Attorney Hale Brown, the Kirksville lawyer for the men in the boat Schwartz photographed, viewed the film and told two of the men to plead guilty.

Magistrate Laurence O. Davis assessed a $250 fine against Jimmie Roger Boyer, the driver of the boat, and Francis Allen Zdanowski. Both are former lumber company employes who have no permanent address. A third man who was a passenger in the boat was released.

Suspects To Appear In Court

WAYNESVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Twenty-one women and 15 men arrested in vice raids in Pulaski County late Saturday were to appear in Waynesville today before Special Judge Douglas W. Greene of Springfield.

Those arrested in raids of three establishments by highway patrolmen under the direction of the Missouri attorney general's office were charged with various offenses, including possession of concealed weapons, operating bawdy houses, vagrancy and resisting arrest.

County law enforcement officials have said there has been a gang war underway since January to control vice in the Ft. Leonard Wood area. Four persons have been shot to death and a mobile home at St. Robert has been bombed since that death.

Seven assistants from the office of Attorney General John Danforth and 36 highway patrolman raided the Glass Top Motel, the Black and White Club and the Way-Out Club.

Lt. Norman Tinnin of the highway patrol said charges of operating a bawdy house were filed against persons arrested at the Glass Top and the Black and White Club. He said the Way Out was not operating but patrolmen raided two mobile homes nearby and made arrests there.

He said officers seized a revolver and a shotgun at the Glass Top and two rifles, four shotguns and four pistols at the Black and White.

Charged In Murder Attempt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 19-year-old woman who police said threw her infant daughter from a second story roof has been booked for attempted murder.

The baby, 2-month-old Nannie Littles, was caught unhurt by a neighbor who stood below. She is being cared for at a Department of Public Social Services home.

Police said the woman, Joyce Denise Flood, told the manager of her apartment house that neither the baby's father nor she wanted the child.

The manager, Harold Braggs, told officers he took the child to his first-floor apartment where he was having a party early Saturday because he heard the baby scream and found the mother trying to suffocate the child with a pillow.

Officers said the woman followed him, snatched the child back and ran to the roof. As Braggs' guests stood below, the young mother shouted, "If you want the baby, you can have her," and then threw her off the roof, police said. The child was caught by a man identified as James Holden.

Investigators said another guest pulled the woman to safety as she tried to jump after her baby.

Study Landlord's Interview Actions

When you rent an apartment, you rent service along with it—and the person responsible for that service should be a capable, professional apartment manager. The kind of treatment you get when you are looking for an apartment is the best indication of the service that you're going to get as a tenant.

It all begins with the first phone contact. A professional knows that you're not going to rent anything until you've seen it and won't waste your time trying to sell you on the apartment until you're face to face. The manager should be willing to answer a few intelligent, specific preliminary questions and give you comprehensible directions to the place.

If the manager is brusque or long-winded, or sounds decidedly dense, you can multiply that by 50 the day the furnace breaks down or the air conditioning goes off. Do expect to be asked for your name and a time that you can be expected, since managing anything capably starts with managing your own time efficiently.

When you arrive on the premises, notice the manager's own apartment. If he's been relegated to a former coal bin you can be certain that the owner doesn't care who's minding his building. If you are visiting a big complex, expect an office complete with secretaries and respectable furniture.

One look at his or her office and appearance can tell you if you're dealing with a neat, business-like individual.

If the person who shows you the apartment is not the manager, ask for an introduction—find out from whom you can get straight answers and prompt action.

Enthusiasm is a valuable trait for a manager to have, but don't be carried away by his or her excitement. A good manager will know his competition and make honest comparisons without being derogatory.

Flexibility is another mark of a manager who is in command of his job. If you suggest something out of the ordinary—painting a wall purple, perhaps—he should be able to say yes or no within a reasonable amount of time. Also suspect the manager who yeses your every request. He's either desperate for tenants, or making idle promises that will be forgotten as soon as you sign a lease.

If a manager gossips about tenants, he will gossip about you. If he has a dozen excuses why an apartment isn't in the best shape when you are there, he'll have just as many on moving day when nothing has been done as promised.

Village Remains Haunting Memory For Israel

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer

BEREM, Israel (AP) — Twenty-four years ago, with war raging in the Middle East, an Israeli army officer drove into this Arab village and ordered its 800 inhabitants to leave.

He promised they could return "in a short time," after the Israelis had cleared the nearby border with Lebanon of mines and enemy pockets. The Arabs claim the officer said 15 days.

But when the villagers tried to return to Berem they were blocked by Israeli troops.

They appealed to the Israeli Supreme Court, which ordered their return home on the grounds no formal expulsion order had been issued.

The army hurriedly wrote out the orders and dodged the court ruling. Then, in 1955, the Israel Defense Forces blew up every house in the village.

The Arabs were given alternative housing nearby and each subsequent request to return to Berem was rejected "on security grounds." It seemed like the end of the affair.

Berem—along with the villagers of neighboring Iqrit who suffered the same fate—appears to be a replay of the murky, time-worn controversy over what really happened in 1948: were the Arabs expelled by the Israelis to make way for the Jewish state, or did the indigenous Arabs obey the orders of their leaders to evacuate for the invading Arab armies?

The Israelis have said the Arabs in 1948 abandoned their homes when they ran away from the fighting. The Arabs claimed they were ordered out by the Israelis who feared a large Arab population inside the burgeoning Jewish state.

This argument will be at the center of any agreement reached on the return of the Arab refugees to Israel or on payment of indemnity.

The Israeli government says it has kept Berem empty because its proximity to the Lebanese border could provide shelter for Arab guerrillas attacking Israel.

There have been dozens of incidents in the area in the past three years, including an attack on an Israeli bus near Berem that killed 12 school children.

Now, Berem and Iqrit residents once again are pressing their demand to return home. Some newspapers have sided with them, and the Israeli Left has tried to make it a cause celebre.

The government, these papers say, is reluctant to give in, fearing residents of dozens of other villages would ask for the right to reclaim their homes, many of which have become Israeli-owned property.

In the case of Berem and Iqrit, most neighboring Jewish settlements have refused to part with the Arab land they gained in 1948.

What has helped the villagers stir favorable public opinion is that the Beremites are of the Maronite Catholic faith, remembered here for the solid support it voiced for European Jewry under Hitler.

The Beremites also proved their allegiance to Israel by testifying in favor of the Jews to various British committees that sought a peaceful settlement of the Palestine problem in the 1940s.

The Rev. Kemal Farah, 29-year-old spiritual leader of Berem, rejects Israel's argument on security, pointing out the displaced villagers have been resettled in Gush Halav, only two miles east of Berem and equally accessible to infiltrators.

Today, Berem is a heap of rubble, overgrown by wild grapevines. Next to it stand the remains of a third-century Jewish synagogue. The synagogue has been fenced in and a small park built for tourists. But the signposting says nothing about a Christian village or church, and foreign visitors have no idea that 24 years ago, people lived on the hill.

Part of Berem's 3,000 acres of farmland now belong to Jewish settlements. Israel's attorney general, Meir Shamgar, says ample compensation was offered the villagers, but only six out of 90 families accepted. The six received a total of some $50,000, plus 10 building plots and farm acreage equal to what they owned in Berem.

Despite the government decision not to allow them to return, the Beremites have vowed to fight on.

"We have owned this land for 600 years," said Riad Suliman, a 24-year-old student. "We would not give it up any more than the Jews give up Israel. The fact that only six out of 90 families from Berem accepted compensation speaks for itself."

Ruins Of Home

Twenty-four years ago it was an Arab village of 800 people, who were ordered to leave during the war raging in 1948. They were never allowed to go back. And in 1955 the Israelis blew up every house in the village. But the villagers continue to press their right to return. (AP)

Trader Sells Indian Crafts

SACATON, Ariz. (AP) — The frontier Indian trader hasn't vanished, he's just changed with the times.

At least that's the case of Jerry Collings, an aggressive, young man who is a far cry from his whiskey-trading counterparts of a century ago.

Collings, like any other trader, buys his wares wholesale from Arizona Indians and sells them to tourists who visit his elaborate shop on the central Arizona Gila Indian Reservation.

"Those first few months, someone would bring in a pot and I'd give them $20 for it," Collings says. "Then, I'd mark the pot up to $30 and everyone would say that I cheated the artist.

"They don't understand the idea of wholesale and retails," he adds. "To them, if you buy something for a certain price, then you should turn around and sell it for the same price."

Collings travels by car—not pack mule—to the Indians and works out of a $650,000 federally subsidized arts and crafts center of which he is the director.

Collings, 29, first became interested in Indians while a child in Parker, Ariz., a small community along the Colorado River.

"Maybe it was because I was an only child and I felt the closeness that exists in Indian homes," he says.

Later, after graduating from college, he returned to Arizona and that's when he met an old woman weaver who touched off his career as a trader.

"This old woman said she wouldn't weave, but I said I would help her if she promised to start working again.

"So I went out and collected a bunch of willow twigs and came back and said, "Here are your materials, now get to work." Well, she found fault with every twig.

"It was then I really discovered how hard it was to make baskets. I knew it took time, but only then did I realize that weaving was the culmination of over 1,000 years of experimentation."

Collings continued his close association with Indians, and, two years ago, was asked to run the federally subsidized craft shop here.

"It started out with the idea of just having local crafts," Collings says, "but we soon found that idea too limiting. So now, I believe we're the only Indian-controlled store which sells crafts from Indian artists and craftsmen in Arizona, New Mexico and California."

Despite this, Collings is having some problems.

"Easterners come out here and they think they can get goods cheaper by going straight to the reservation," he says.

"They offer those people $30 for a pot that I had previously bought for $15 and the next time I come around, the artist says he is charging me $30 too. Lately, it's been a never-ending spiral upwards."

Rent Withholding Risky Maneuver

By JIM HUFNAGEL
Written for Associated Press.

Your landlord promised six months ago to replace those buckled kitchen floor tiles. Your lease says it's his job to keep the apartment in good shape; you've begged and threatened any number of times but all you get are promises. Finally, in desperation, you decide to play his way. No tiles, no rent.

You assume that what you are doing is legal since he broke the lease first. Just to be on the safe side you open a special bank account for your rent. The landlord is sent a formal letter notifying him that he will get his back rent the day you receive your new kitchen floor. Everything is open and a aboveboard.

And absolutely illegal. You can very easily come home one evening and find yourself out of an apartment, your belongings put in storage and the special bank account attached by the landlord to collect his back rent.

Why does the tenant lose? It's a legal theory called "the doctrine of independent covenants." According to this theory, a lease isn't just one contract, but two. There's the contract with the landlord (to pay the rent), and there's the landlord's contract with you (to fix the kitchen floor). If he breaks his contract, you get to sue him. If you break yours, he gets to evict you, and it makes no difference who breaks first.

The notion of independent covenants was first designed to protect the tenant. Today it protects the landlord. The rule has only two exceptions: the doctrine of "constructive eviction," and rent withholding.

The constructive eviction theory holds that if a landlord lets an apartment get into "unlivable" condition, it's as though he has evicted the tenant. The owner is therefore not entitled to any more rent. Now, what's considered "unlivable"? The courts have an answer: an apartment is unlivable if it's in such bad shape that the tenant moves out. If the tenant stays on, the apartment must still be livable, so the rent is still due the first of every month. However, the constructive eviction theory is not all bad. It usually applies to parts of an apartment, too. For example, if a study leaks or a bedroom gets no heat, the tenant must establish that the room can't be used and then deduct a reasonable percentage of each month's rent until the repairs are made.

The other exception is rent withholding. Rent withholding statutes are complicated and each one is a little different so don't try to handle this maneuver by yourself. Start by calling the city housing authority; they'll tell you procedure. Every rent withholding law provides for the cash to be put aside somewhere, to be paid to the landlord if and when the repairs are finished.

As a legal maneuver, rent withholding is confined to the states that have it and the conditions it covers.

"I urge you to send 25¢ now to protect your family with this extra cash plan"

Art Linkletter

$1,000.00 a month tax free cash

at the rate of $33.33 a day when you are hospitalized

You collect benefits at the rate of...

$1,000.00 a month cash
$33.33 a day, when you are hospitalized . . . for each accident starting the first day in the hospital, and for each illness, after the fifth day, continuing for life if necessary.

$500.00 a month cash
$16.67 a day, if you're 65 or over, for the first 3 months of hospitalization. Coverage for accidents begins the very first day in the hospital; sickness coverage begins after the fifth day. After 3 months, if you are still in the hospital, you then receive...

$1,000.00 a month cash
$33.33 a day, thereafter, even for life if necessary. This money is paid directly to you in addition to Medicare or any other coverage you may already have.

$600.00 a month cash
$20.00 a day, when your child is hospitalized for any accident or illness, when you have Coverage for Children—no matter how long the confinement may be. Coverage for accidents begins the very first day in the hospital; sickness coverage begins after the fifth day.

$1,000.00 a month cash
$33.33 a day, for maternity benefits when Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits have been added to the basic plan. Both parents must be covered for entire pregnancy.

$400.00 a month cash
$13.33 a day, for a registered nurse at home if your doctor has you hire one within five days following a covered hospital confinement of five days or more. Benefits continue for as long as your covered confinement—up to one year.

UP TO $2,000.00 cash
for complete accidental loss of limbs or eyesight. If you suffer complete loss of a hand or foot or the sight of an eye within 90 days of the accident, you collect $1,000.00—and $2,000.00 for the loss of two limbs or the sight of both eyes.

$4,000.00 a month cash
$2,000.00 a month for you—and $2,000.00 a month for your spouse...when an accident hospitalizes covered husband and wife at the same time. Yes, you collect $4,000.00 A MONTH in all (when under 65), $133.33 a day while both are in the hospital—even for life.

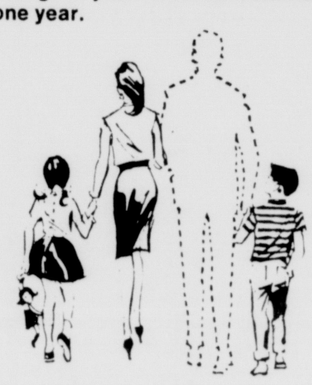
We pay all premiums that come due for you and all covered members of your family should you—the policyowner—be hospitalized for eight consecutive weeks or more. And you don't have to pay us back.

We guarantee not to cancel your protection no matter how many claims you have...or how old you become...or for any reason whatsoever. Only you can cancel.



We guarantee not to raise your low rates because of how old you become...or how many claims you have...but only if there is a general rate adjustment on all policies of this class in your entire state.

Dear Friend:

How often do we take good health for granted? It's only natural ... until something happens. And things do happen. Over 30 million people are admitted to hospitals each year, and with today's skyrocketing medical costs many people lose their savings and go into debt.

That's why you should protect yourself and your family with National Home's extra cash health plan. I think this plan is one of the best supplemental hospital insurance plans you can own.

I've looked over the policy very carefully. I also know the folks at National Home. And you won't find more decent, competent and friendly people to deal with. I've seen the way they handle claims, too — quickly and fairly. Believe me, when you need them, they'll be there to help you.

I cannot imagine anybody passing up the chance to enroll in this health plan — especially when the first month's protection costs only 25¢, and then continues at low monthly rates.

We all know what a terrible thing it is to be hospitalized. But what a relief it is to know there's tax-free cash coming in when you need it most! Take my advice. Send the Enrollment Form now — before you forget.

Sincerely,

Art Linkletter

Art Linkletter
Member of the Board of Directors,
National Home Life Assurance Company

OVER 30 million people will be admitted to a hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family—tomorrow ...next week...next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have more than doubled in just a few short years.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do if your pay check stopped, but living expenses kept going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have an answer in this supplemental National Home plan.

Pays you up to $1,000.00 a month tax-free cash when you are hospitalized.

Up to $1,000.00-a-month cash, $33.33 a day, is paid directly to you in addition to whatever you may receive from your insurance with any other companies. Use the money as you see fit – for hospital or doctors' bills. To replace savings or cover household expenses.

How much does $1,000.00-a-month protection cost you? Only 25¢ covers you and your entire family for the first month. After that you may continue at our regular low rates.

Pays you $600.00 a month cash when any unmarried dependent child is hospitalized.

When you choose Coverage for Children, this National Home plan pays you at the rate of $600.00-a-month cash, $20.00 a day, when one of your children is hospitalized. Pays for as long as necessary! Children are covered for accidents from the first day and for sickness after the fifth day.

Pays you cash benefits for Maternity care!

If both husband and wife are insured for the entire period of pregnancy (and have added Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits), you get tax-free cash to use any way you want. Yes, if a pregnancy, childbirth or even miscarriage puts you in the hospital for one day, five days, ten days – as long as necessary – you get cash benefits of $33.33 a day for every day of your confinement.

Pays you cash benefits for a Registered Nurse at Home.

How comforting it is to know that–after your stay in the hospital, if you've been there five days or more for which you received benefits–you can return home to recuperate and yet not be a burden to your loved ones. If your doctor has you employ a full-time registered nurse within 5 days after you come home, we'll pay you benefits at the rate of $400.00 a month, $13.33 a day. And your benefits continue for the same number of covered days that you were in the hospital–even up to 12 full months.

Double Cash Accident Benefit.

When you and your insured spouse are hospitalized at the same time for an accidental injury, this National Home plan pays each of you DOUBLE CASH. $2,000.00 a month apiece. That's $4,000.00 in cash payments every month (when under age 65), $133.33 a day starting the day you enter the hospital for as long as you both remain there.

Pays you up to $2,000.00 cash for these accidental losses...

If loss occurs within 90 days of the accident, you collect $1,000.00 for the complete loss of a hand or a foot or the sight of an eye–and $2,000.00 for the loss of two limbs or the sight of both eyes.

65 OR OVER?

You collect benefits in addition to Medicare!

Regardless of the coverage you already have, National Home pays you at the rate of $500.00 a month ($16.67 a day) for the first 3 months, and $1,000.00 monthly ($33.33 a day) while hospitalized thereafter. Coverage for accidents begins the very first day in the hospital. Sickness coverage begins after the fifth day. Coverage for accident and sickness continues for life, if necessary.

These are the only exclusions!

Your National Home policy covers every kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by:

1. any sickness or injury which existed before the policy went into effect (all pre-existing conditions are covered after policy has been in force for 2 years);
2. war or any act of war;
3. any mental disease or disorder;
4. pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision.

You will be covered for care in any hospital except a nursing or convalescent facility.

You collect from your first day in the hospital for accidents and after five days for sickness.

CASH BENEFITS PAID TO 10,000 FAMILIES EVERY MONTH.

You never really know how good a policy is until you have to make a claim. National Home–the company that stands behind your policy–is noted for prompt, reliable claims service. We're very proud of how fast we pay our claims. We pay claims to policyowners at the rate of $20,000,000 a year. Our philosophy, in a word, is "excellence"–and it is the goal of our service. At every occasion, we will serve you efficiently and courteously.

Take advantage of our special offer today.

Mail the Enrollment Form together with 25¢ for first month's coverage. No salesman will call Remember, once you suffer an accident or illness, it's too late to buy protection for that confinement.

CLAIMS PHILOSOPHY

National Home Life Assurance Company

Our claims philosophy stresses the importance of a prompt and equitable settlement of all claims:

..."EXCELLENCE is not only what we wish to achieve, but that to which our policyowners are entitled."

..."Our guiding principle is to ask ourselves on each submitted claim. 'Is there any way we can pay this claim?' . . . always give the benefit of the doubt to the policyowner."

..."Courtesy is an absolute requirement–the policyowner must have the feeling that he is not a number but, rather, a human being and that we stand ready and willing to assist him in anyway we can."

25¢ covers you the first month. Then continue at these rates:

$1,000.00 A MONTH PLAN ($33.33 A DAY)

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium per Adult
16-44	only $ 5.35
45-49	only $ 6.25
50-54	only $ 6.85
55-74	only $ 7.95
75-79	only $ 9.15
80-84	only $10.15
85 and over	only $12.15

Only $2.85 more per month covers all your unmarried dependent children...from the age of 1 month through 18 years. Newborn children are covered automatically at the age of 1 month – at no additional cost! And then, if you wish, just add $2.15 monthly to that and you're covered for Maternity Benefits, too!

Also Available

$600.00 A MONTH PLAN ($20.00 A DAY)

Pays 62% of the $1,000.00 a month policy for all benefits, except benefits for Registered Nurse and Accidental Dismemberment. These two benefits are the same as in the $1,000.00 a month plan.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium per Adult
16-44	only $3.45
45-49	only $4.00
50-54	only $4.40
55-74	only $5.10
75-79	only $5.85
80-84	only $6.50
85 and over	only $7.75

Only $1.80 more per month covers all your unmarried dependent children...from the age of 1 month through 18 years. Newborn children are covered automatically at the age of 1 month – at no additional cost! And then, if you wish, just add $1.35 monthly to that and you're covered for Maternity Benefits, too!

NOTE: The regular monthly premium shown (for age at time of enrollment) will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled in this National Home plan, your rate cannot be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us–or because of advanced age–but only if there is a general rate adjustment on all policies of this class in your entire state. We will issue you only one policy of this class.

GRANTMASTER TIRE GUARANTEE

1. Tread Life Guarantee Against Road Hazards
We guarantee all Grantmaster tires against failures from all normal road hazards for the life of the tread with the exception of: ordinary nail punctures, fire, theft, front-end mis-alignment, under-inflation, over-inflation and running flat.

2. Tread Life Guarantee Against Defects
We guarantee the Grantmaster tires, against all defects of material and workmanship, for the life of the tread.

Basis of Adjustment: Should your Grantmaster tire require adjustment under Section 1 or 2 of the Guarantee, please return it to Grants and we will replace it by giving you a proportionate allowance for the unused tread, based on the current selling price, including Federal Excise Tax.

3. Guaranteed Against Tread Wear
The original tread is guaranteed not to wear out for the number of months designated. If tread wears out during this period, the tire should be returned to Grants and we will replace it, charging the current regular selling price plus Federal Excise Tax less the following percentage allowance toward the purchase of a new tire.

Tire Guarantee	Allowance
18-27 Months	10%
28-40 Months	25%

This guarantee covers tires in passenger car service only. Passenger car tires used in commercial service reduce the guarantee period by 50%.

Kroger Food Stores

the boss' promise

VALUE:

Your money should buy the maximum quality at a minimum price. But my promise to you is that for value, nobody in town can or will offer you more value for your money than Kroger.

If for any reason you feel that any part of my promise is not being fulfilled to you, I want to hear from you directly. Simply ask your Kroger store manager for my private number and call me.

We're dedicated to the proposition that there's always something extra in store for you at Kroger, and I want to follow through personally on my promise to see that you get it. "Everything you have a right to expect . . . We'll do our level best to give you."
